Infoblox Qualified NIOS DDI Expert - INE Sample Questions (Q75-Q80):

NEW QUESTION # 75

What baud rate does the Serial Console use?

- A. 2400 bps
- B. 39400 bps
- C. 57600 bps
- D. 9600 bps

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation: The serial console on Infoblox appliances provides low-level access for diagnostics:

* Default Settings: Per NIOS documentation, the serial port operates at 9600 baud, with 8 data bits, no parity, 1 stop bit (8N1). This is an industry-standard rate for serial terminals, balancing speed and reliability.

* Verification: Connecting via a terminal emulator (e.g., PuTTY, minicom) requires matching 9600 bps- mismatched rates garble output, a common troubleshooting issue.

* Options:

* A (2400): Too slow, used in older systems, not Infoblox. Incorrect.

* B (9600): Matches NIOS spec. Correct.

* C (39400): Non-standard, likely a typo (38400 is common elsewhere, but not here). Incorrect.

* D (57600): Faster rate for modern devices, not Infoblox default. Incorrect.

* Practical Example: In an INE lab, you'd set PuTTY to 9600 bps, connect via null modem cable, and view boot logs, troubleshooting a Grid member's startup. References: Infoblox NIOS Administrator Guide - Serial Console; INE Course Content: NIOS DDI Grid Troubleshooting.

NEW QUESTION # 76

How does the passive member of a High Availability (HA) pair receive its database updates?

- A. bloxSync from the Grid Master
- B. SSL VPN from the Active node
- C. bloxSync from the Active node
- D. SSL VPN from the Grid Master

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation: In an HA pair, the passive node stays synchronized with the active node to ensure seamless failover. This synchronization uses bloxSync, a proprietary Infoblox protocol that securely transfers database updates (e.g., DNS records, DHCP leases) between the HA pair members over an SSL-encrypted connection. The active node, being the operational member, directly provides these updates to the passive node. The Grid Master handles Grid-wide sync, but within an HA pair, the active node is the source. Options A and B misrepresent the mechanism (it's not a traditional VPN), and Option D incorrectly attributes the sync to the Grid Master. This is a critical HA troubleshooting topic in the INE course.

NEW QUESTION # 77

How are Workflow Approval notifications delivered in NIOS?

- A. Via SMS
- B. Via email
- C. Via in-app notifications
- D. Via push notifications

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation: Workflow Approval in NIOS enforces change control with notifications:

* Mechanism: When a requester submits a change (e.g., new DNS record), approvers are notified via email, configured in Grid Properties (Grid > Grid Manager > Grid Properties > Email).

* Details: SMTP server settings (e.g., IP, port, credentials) must be defined for delivery. No other methods are natively supported.

* Options:

* A: SMS isn't supported-requires external integration. Incorrect.

* B: Push notifications aren't part of NIOS GUI or mobile app (none exists). Incorrect.

* C: Email is the documented, sole method. Correct.

* D: In-app notifications don't exist-Grid Manager relies on email. Incorrect.

* Practical Example: In an INE lab, you'd configure an SMTP server, request a zone change, and troubleshoot email delivery failures for approval, testing Grid management. References: Infoblox NIOS Administrator Guide - Workflow Approval Notifications; INE

Course Objective: NIOS DDI Grid Deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 78

What does VRRP stand for?

- A. Variable Route Recovery Protocol
- B. Vital Router Response Protocol
- C. Virtual Router Redundancy Protocol
- D. Variable Rate Response Packet

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation: VRRP is the protocol Infoblox uses for HA:

* D: Virtual Router Redundancy Protocol (RFC 3768) provides IP redundancy by sharing a virtual IP (VIP) between routers (or NIOS nodes). Correct.

* A/B/C: Fictional acronyms-VRRP is a well-defined standard. Incorrect.

* Practical Example: In an INE lab, you'd configure VRRP for an HA pair, test failover, and troubleshoot VRRP packets, reinforcing HA concepts. References: RFC 3768 - VRRP; Infoblox NIOS Administrator Guide - HA; INE Course Content: NIOS DDI Grid Deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 79

What filters are available for Global Search Basic Mode? (Select all that apply.)

- A. DNS Name
- B. Record Type
- C. MAC Address
- D. IP Address

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation: Global Search in NIOS (top-right search bar) offers Basic and Advanced modes:

* Basic Mode Filters: Allows quick searches across Grid objects using:

* DNS Name: Search by FQDN (e.g., "host.example.com"). Correct.

* IP Address: Search by IPv4/IPv6 (e.g., "192.168.1.10"). Correct.

* Record Type: Filter by DNS types (e.g., A, CNAME). Correct.

* MAC Address: Available in Advanced mode (Data Management > Global Search > Advanced), not Basic mode, which focuses on DNS/IP basics. Incorrect here.

* Usage: Enter a term (e.g., "example.com"), select a filter, and view results (e.g., all A records).

* Practical Example: In an INE lab, you'd use Basic mode to find all A records for "lab.com," troubleshoot DNS issues, and switch to Advanced for MAC searches. References: Infoblox NIOS Administrator Guide - Global Search; INE Course Content: NIOS DDI DNS Troubleshooting.
