Oracle Cloud Infrastructure 2025 Migration Architect Professional Sample Questions (Q44-Q49):

NEW QUESTION # 44

One of your customers is planning to consolidate many of their single-instance databases into a suitable database solution in OCI. Their goal is to optimize resource utilization and reduce maintenance and management overhead. What would you suggest as a migration architect?

- A. Group and migrate related databases into OCI Base Database service on multitenant architecture
- B. Use Oracle Estate Explorer to identify databases that can be migrated to Autonomous Database and the recommended method for migration
- C. Consolidate all databases into Exadata Database on Dedicated Infrastructure using Zero Downtime Migration
- D. Group related databases and use the cloud premigration advisor tool to get consolidation recommendation

Answer: A

Explanation:

Grouping and migrating related databases into OCI Base Database service on multitenant architecture allows for efficient resource utilization and reduced management overhead.

NEW QUESTION # 45

Which statement accurately describes the routing mechanism within a Virtual Cloud Network (VCN) in Oracle Cloud Infrastructure (OCI)?

- A. Each subnet within a VCN employs multiple route rules, allowing for diverse routing paths based on traffic priorities

- B. A subnet in a VCN is associated with a single route table, dictating how outbound traffic from all Virtual Network Interface Cards (VNICs) within that subnet is directed
- C. If no route rule matches the network traffic you intend to route outside the VCN, the traffic is sent to the Internet
- D. VCN local routing necessitates manual configuration of route rules to facilitate infrastructure communication

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Oracle Cloud Infrastructure (OCI), a subnet in a Virtual Cloud Network (VCN) is indeed associated with a single route table. This route table determines how outbound traffic from all Virtual Network Interface Cards (VNICs) within that subnet is directed, providing a centralized control mechanism for routing within the VCN.

NEW QUESTION # 46

You are working as a migration cloud architect in an organization where you are responsible for cloud migrations from an on-premises data center. This environment consists of VMware and KVM infrastructures, both hosting a set of production application workloads. As part of a migration process, you are tasked with identifying appropriate methods for migrating workloads from both source environments into Oracle Cloud VMware Solution (OCVS). The application owners would like to validate the VMs after the migration and before switching over those workloads to production. Which two migration types can be used?

- A. Block Volume Replication
- B. Oracle Cloud Migrations service
- C. HCX vMotion
- D. HCX Bulk Migration
- E. HCX OS Assisted Replication

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

HCX Bulk Migration and HCX vMotion are suitable methods for migrating workloads from VMware and KVM infrastructures to Oracle Cloud VMware Solution (OCVS). Bulk Migration allows for bulk migration of VMs, and vMotion allows live migration without downtime, both enabling VM validation before finalizing migration.

NEW QUESTION # 47

Your company is looking to migrate its IT infrastructure into Oracle Cloud VMware Solution (OCVS). The source infrastructure includes a variety of workloads, such as a few business-critical VMs that require continuous availability, and a large set of non-critical dev-test VMs. As a migration cloud architect, you are exploring Hybrid Cloud Extension (HCX) migration methods to identify the best approaches for each type of workload. Which HCX migration method would be the most appropriate to use in order to migrate both business-critical VMs and dev-test VMs?

- A. HCX Bulk Migration for migrating business-critical VMs and HCX vMotion for non-critical dev-test VMs
- B. HCX Bulk Migration for migrating the business-critical VMs, and Cold Migrations for non-critical dev-test VMs
- C. Cold Migration for migrating both business-critical and non-critical dev-test VMs
- D. HCX vMotion for migrating business-critical VMs, and Cold Migrations for non-critical dev-test VMs

Answer: D

Explanation:

HCX vMotion is the most appropriate method for migrating business-critical VMs as it allows live migration without downtime, ensuring continuous availability. Cold Migrations can be used for non-critical dev-test VMs since downtime is acceptable for these workloads.

NEW QUESTION # 48

How does containerization differ from virtualization in terms of resource optimization?

- A. Containerization allows for more efficient utilization of hardware resources by sharing the host operating system
- B. Virtualization offers more flexibility in terms of application dependencies
- C. Virtualization maximizes efficiency by running multiple applications on the same OS kernel
- D. Containers require a full operating system to run, whereas virtual machines share a single operating system

Answer: A

Explanation:

Containerization allows for more efficient utilization of hardware resources by sharing the host operating system. Containers only package the application and its dependencies, running on top of the host OS without the need for a separate guest OS.
