NEW QUESTION # 86

Which feature of a stage plan suggests that a project is in danger of scope creep?

- A. Products identified in a stage plan cannot be traced back to the project plan
- B. Stage plans are prepared by the project manager as the stage comes to an end
- C. The team delivering the stage plan includes staff from different parts of an organization
- D. It is not possible to implement remedial actions for an exception by updating a stage plan

Answer: A

Explanation:

A feature of a stage plan that suggests a project is in danger of scope creep is when products identified in the stage plan cannot be traced back to the project plan. This indicates a lack of alignment between the stage and overall project objectives, potentially leading to uncontrolled changes or additions to the project scope, known as scope creep.
