Microsoft AI Business Professional Sample Questions (Q89-Q94):

NEW QUESTION # 89

What are two limitations of prompt scheduling in Microsoft 365 Copilot? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Prompt scheduling in Microsoft 365 Copilot enables users to automate recurring AI-driven tasks such as generating reports, summaries, or updates. However, there are defined operational limits to ensure system performance, responsible AI usage, and governance compliance.

First, the most frequent interval at which a prompt can be scheduled is once per day. Scheduling more frequently, such as hourly, is not supported. This limitation prevents excessive automated execution that could strain system resources or generate unnecessary redundant outputs.

Second, a scheduled prompt has a maximum execution limit of 15 times. After reaching this threshold, the schedule must be recreated if further automation is required. This control ensures users periodically review and validate automated prompts for relevance, accuracy, and business alignment.

These constraints reflect Microsoft's enterprise AI governance strategy: balancing productivity automation with performance optimization, cost control, compliance oversight, and responsible AI lifecycle management within Microsoft 365 Copilot environments.

NEW QUESTION # 90

You ask Microsoft 365 Copilot to create a report based on information from the web. You verify the response and discover that some information is fictional.

What is this an example of?

- A. bias
- B. deepfake
- C. fabrication
- D. overreliance

- E. prompt injection

Answer: C

Explanation:

This scenario is an example of fabrication, which is commonly referred to in generative AI contexts as a hallucination. Fabrication occurs when an AI system generates information that appears credible but is factually incorrect, invented, or unsupported by verifiable sources.

According to Microsoft AI Business Professional guidance, large language models predict text based on patterns learned during training. They do not "know" facts in the human sense. As a result, when asked to generate reports using web-based information, the model may produce plausible-sounding but fictional details if sufficient grounding or reliable sources are not provided.

Deepfake refers specifically to synthetic media such as manipulated images, audio, or video. Overreliance describes a human behavior risk where users trust AI outputs without verification. Prompt injection is a malicious technique designed to manipulate model behavior. Bias refers to systematic unfairness in outputs.

In this case, the presence of fictional information in the generated report directly aligns with fabrication, making option B the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 91

You are a project coordinator for a small consulting firm.

You are responsible for tracking client communications, managing project timelines, and preparing weekly status updates for internal stakeholders.

You have a Microsoft 365 Copilot license.

You create an agent to help you monitor project milestones, follow up on client emails, and generate weekly summary reports.

With whom can you share the agent?

- A. any person who has a valid email address
- B. only Microsoft Teams channel members
- C. the people in your organization and people that have personal Microsoft accounts
- D. only the people in your organization

Answer: D

Explanation:

When you create a custom agent using a Microsoft 365 Copilot license (typically through the Agent Builder), you can share it with the following people within your organization:

Specific Users: You can share the agent directly with up to 98 named individuals by entering their name or email address.

Security Groups: You can share with specific Entra ID Security Groups to grant access to a predefined team.

Everyone in Your Organization: You can make the agent available to anyone in your tenant via a sharing link.

Incorrect:

[not C]

You are not limited to only sharing agents with Microsoft Teams channel members. While agents can be created for specific Teams channels, you can also share them directly with specific users or groups within your organization, or publish them for wider organizational access.

NEW QUESTION # 92

Hotspot Question

For each of the following statements, select Yes if the statement is true. Otherwise, select No.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Box 1: Yes

Yes - Microsoft 365 Copilot uses contextual information from your organization to suggest prompts.

Microsoft 365 Copilot leverages contextual information from your organization to suggest relevant prompts, a process aimed at improving productivity by reducing the need to search for information. This feature, often enhanced by Context IQ, scans your recent activity--including emails, calendar meetings, chats, and documents--to provide personalized, tailored suggestions.

Box 2: No

No - Microsoft 365 Copilot can use contextual information from your organization to train the large language model (LLM).

How Microsoft 365 Copilot actually uses organizational data:

*-> No Training on Customer Data: Customer data, including prompts, responses, and data accessed through Microsoft Graph (emails, chats, documents, etc.), is not used to train the underlying foundation LLMs that power Copilot.

Grounding (Contextual Use): Copilot uses organizational context to "ground" responses. It retrieves relevant data in real-time via Microsoft Graph to ensure answers are accurate and tailored to your organization.

Box 3: Yes

Yes - Microsoft 365 Copilot uses contextual information from your organization to suggest augment a prompt, before sending the prompt to the large language model (LLM).

It uses a process called grounding to improve the relevance and accuracy of its responses by connecting to your organization's data via the Microsoft Graph.

Instead of just relying on the general knowledge of a Large Language Model (LLM), Copilot acts as an intermediary, augmenting your prompt with real-time organizational context before the LLM processes it.
