Option A relates more to the "Visibility over Personal Information (VPI)" practice area, where data inventories and mapping of processes are core objectives. Hence, it is not aligned with POR.

NEW QUESTION # 68

The concept of data adequacy is based on the principle of _____.

- A. Essential assessment
- B. Essential equivalence
- C. Dissimilarity of legislations
- D. Adequate compliance

Answer: B

Explanation:

Data adequacy is a concept primarily referenced under international data transfer mechanisms, especially in GDPR and mirrored in Indian and global privacy frameworks. The idea is that a country can receive personal data from another country if it ensures an "adequate level of protection".

This level is determined not by exact replication of laws but by their "Essential Equivalence" to the originating country's standards. The principle of "Essential Equivalence" means that although the laws do not have to be identical, they must offer comparable protection in practice. This is the benchmark used by authorities like the EU Commission and reflected in frameworks including DPF©.

- A. Regulatory Compliance Intelligence (RCI)
- B. Privacy Policy and Processes (PPP)
- C. Visibility over Personal Information (VPI)
- D. Privacy Organization and Relationship (POR)

Answer: A

Explanation:

The DPF's "Regulatory Compliance Intelligence (RCI)" practice area is focused on identifying and mapping applicable legal and compliance requirements to the specific data elements across business processes. This enables organizations to operationalize compliance obligations by linking them directly with the data they manage.
