Supermicro Direct Liquid Cooling Service Associate (SDLCSA) Exam Sample Questions (Q39-Q44):

NEW QUESTION # 39
In order to remove a side bracket from the SYS-421GE-TNHR2-LCC, where are the 4 screws located that must be removed?

- A. 4 screws on the top, 0 screws on the side

- B. 3 screws on the top, 1 screw on the side
- C. 2 screws on the top, 2 screws on the side
- D. 1 screw on the top, 3 screws on the side

Answer: C

Explanation:
The side bracket in the SYS-421GE-TNHR2-LCC, likely housing add-on components, is secured with2 screws on the top and 2 on the side, a balanced approach seen in Supermicro's modular designs (e.g., SYS-420GP-TNAR). This distribution ensures stability and accessibility, common in DLC systems with dense configurations. A (all top) or C (3 top) skews placement, while B (1 top) is insufficient. D aligns with Supermicro's chassis engineering, making it correct.References:Supermicro chassis bracket guides, DLC system structural design.

NEW QUESTION # 40
Which card would you most likely connect to the AOM module (AOM-GP401-PCIE)?

- A. AOM card
- B. Credit card
- C. AOC NIC card
- D. Debit card

Answer: C

Explanation:
The AOM module (AOM-GP401-PCIE) in Supermicro systems is a PCIe-based add-on module, typically for expansion cards like NICs (Network Interface Cards). The AOC NIC card (Add-On Card, Network Interface Card) is the most likely connection, as Supermicro's AOM modules (e.g., in SYS-420 series) are designed to interface with AOC cards for networking in DLC systems. A (AOM card) is vague and not a standard term, while B and D (credit/debit cards) are irrelevant. Supermicro's DLC solutions integrate high-speed networking, making C the verified choice.

NEW QUESTION # 41
Which 3 components of the SYS-421GE-TNHR2-LCC does this training discuss break/fix for? (Choose 3 answers)

- A. External Chassis
- B. Bluetooth
- C. PCIe Tray
- D. Motherboard Tray

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:
The SYS-421GE-TNHR2-LCC, a DLC-enabled server, focuses break/fix training on key physical components per Supermicro's service scope:
* PCIe Tray: Houses GPUs/NICs, critical for DLC cooling (e.g., cold plates on GPUs).
* Motherboard Tray: Contains CPUs and core systems, also liquid-cooled in DLC setups.
* External Chassis: Encloses all components, requiring access for repairs.Bluetooth (C) is a connectivity feature, not a physical component for break/fix in this context, and Supermicro's DLC documentation (e.g., rack-scale solutions) emphasizes trays and chassis. Thus, A, B, and D are the focus.References:
Supermicro DLC solution breakdowns, SYS-420 series service guides.

NEW QUESTION # 42
What 2 add-on component(s) are located inside the side bracket of the SYS-421GE-TNHR2-LCC?

- A. AOM-PCIe card and GPU card
- B. AOM-PCIe card and AOC NIC card
- C. AOC NIC card and PCIe card
- D. GPU card and PCIe card

Answer: B

Explanation:
The side bracket in the SYS-421GE-TNHR2-LCC likely houses networking or management add-ons. The AOM-PCIe card(e.g., AOM-GP401-PCIE module) andAOC NIC card(networkinterface card) are common components in Supermicro's DLC systems, enhancing connectivity (e.g., high-speed NICs for AI workloads).
A (GPU/PCIe) mixes unrelated categories, C pairs an AOM with a GPU (less likely), and D (AOC/PCIe) lacks specificity. B aligns with Supermicro's DLC networking focus, making it correct.References:
Supermicro add-on card specs, DLC system networking components.

NEW QUESTION # 43
Before removing the LPIO board from the PCIe tray, what other component needs to be removed first?

- A. Motherboard tray
- B. Air shroud
- C. Metal bracket
- D. GPU tray

Answer: C

Explanation:
The LPIO (Low-Profile IO) board in Supermicro systems like the SYS-421GE-TNHR2-LCC, part of the PCIe tray, is typically secured by ametal bracketthat must be removed first. This bracket holds the LPIO board and associated cables (e.g., BMC cable) in place, as seen in similar designs (e.g., SYS-420GP-TNAR). Removing it involves unscrewing (often 2 screws) and lifting it off, granting access to the LPIO board. A (GPU tray) is a separate assembly, C (motherboard tray) is unrelated to the PCIe tray's LPIO, and D (air shroud) covers components but doesn't secure the board. Supermicro's DLC systems emphasize modular access, making B the correct step.References:Supermicro PCIe tray service guides, DLC system IO component layouts.
