Sample Questions (Q238-Q243):

NEW QUESTION # 238

What is causing this issue?

- A. The VLAN is stretched
- B. The VLAN is IPAM
- C. The VLAN is static
- D. The VLAN is DHCP

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is C because a stretched VLAN is a VLAN that spans across multiple Nutanix clusters, which may cause network conflicts or latency issues when starting the database server.

Option A is incorrect because a DHCP VLAN is a VLAN that uses dynamic IP address allocation, which does not affect the database server startup. Option B is incorrect because a static VLAN is a VLAN that uses fixed IP address allocation, which also does not affect the database server startup. Option D is incorrect because IPAM is not a type of VLAN, but a feature of NDB that allows managing IP addresses for database servers and databases.

NEW QUESTION # 239

How should a patch be downloaded to perform a One-Click Upgrade of an NDB Environment with access to the Internet?

- A. Download the patch from the Nutanix Support Portal and upload via the NDB CLI.
- B. Open Prism Element and use LCM to update the software.
- C. Download the patch in the Administrator > Maintenance section of NDB.
- D. Open Prism Central and deploy the current version of NDB from the Apps and Marketplace section.

Answer: C

Explanation:

For a One-Click Upgrade of an NDB environment with internet access, the patch should be downloaded directly within the NDB interface. The "Administrator > Maintenance" section of NDB provides an option to connect to the Nutanix download repository (e.g., <https://download.nutanix.com>) and download the latest patch or upgrade bundle automatically.

This streamlined process ensures compatibility and simplifies the upgrade workflow. The One-Click Upgrade feature then applies the downloaded patch to update NDB components efficiently.

NEW QUESTION # 240

Refer to the exhibit. A request is received to provision a new Oracle SIHA DB & VM to test ASMLIB on OEL79 and Oracle 19c.

When walking through the provisioning workflow, only ASMFD is available in the ASM Driver drop down.

What is necessary to provision the requested SIHA DB and DB VM with ASMLIB?

The screenshot shows the 'Provision an Oracle Single Instance Database' wizard. The 'ASM Driver' dropdown menu is open, showing 'None' selected with a checkmark, and 'ASMFD' as an option. Other fields include 'Database Server VM Name' (SIHAVM), 'NDB Drive User' (era), and 'Software Profile' (Oracle 19c).

- A. Update the NDB driver config to enable ASMLIB for Oracle.
- B. Update the software profile to include the ASMLIB driver.
- C. Install ASMLIB on the database server.
- D. Install ASMLIB on the NDB server.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the context of Nutanix Database Automation (NCP-DB), when provisioning a new Oracle SIHA DB & VM, if only ASMFD is available in the ASM Driver drop-down, it indicates that ASMLIB is not included in the current software profile. To provision the requested SIHA DB and DB VM with ASMLIB, it's essential to update the software profile to include the ASMLIB driver. This action will enable ASMLIB as an option in the ASM Driver drop-down during the provisioning workflow.

NEW QUESTION # 241

What is the terminology used for registering an existing database with Era?

- A. Brownfield Database
- B. Source Database
- C. Greenfield Database
- D. Cloned Database

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the context of Nutanix Era, the term "Brownfield Database" is used to refer to an existing database that is registered with Era. This process allows Era to bring Database as a Service (DBaaS) capabilities to your existing database. It's important to note that before you register a database with Era, certain prerequisites must be met.

NEW QUESTION # 242

A Development team is asking for updated data for a cloned MongoDB instance that is being used as source data for a script. Which task should be performed by an NDB administrator?

- A. Execute a clone update.
- B. Clone the DB from the latest point in time data.

- C. Run a Clone refresh.
- D. Provision a MongoDB instance.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A Development team requesting updated data for a cloned MongoDB instance used as source data for a script needs the latest snapshot or point-in-time data. In NDB, the "Clone Refresh" task updates an existing clone with the most recent data from the source database, ensuring the development team has access to current information without recreating the clone. This is the most efficient approach for maintaining an updated clone.
