Cisco Implementing Cisco Data Center Core Technologies (350-601 DCCOR) Sample Questions (Q34-Q39):

NEW QUESTION # 34
A customer has a requirement for an automation solution that supports periodically acquiring configuration from a centralized server and aligning UCS servers to their desired state.
Which open-source tool meets this requirement?

- A. Terraform
- B. Kubernetes
- C. Puppet
- D. SaltStack

Answer: C

Explanation:
The Puppet software package, developed by Puppet Labs, is an open source automation toolset for managing servers and other resources by enforcing device states, such as configuration settings.
Puppet components include a puppet agent which runs on the managed device (node) and a puppet master (server) that typically runs on a separate dedicated server and serves multiple devices. The operation of the puppet agent involves periodically connecting to the puppet master; which in turn compiles and sends a configuration manifest to the agent; the agent reconciles this manifest with the current state of the node and updates state based on differences.

NEW QUESTION # 37
An engineer creates a service profile in Cisco UCS Manager and must assign a policy that reboots blades when changes are applied. The changes must be applied only after user acknowledgment. Which two policies must be configured to meet these requirements? (Choose two.)

- A. Maintenance Policy
- B. Boot Policy
- C. Global Policy
- D. Power Control Policy
- E. Reboot Policy

Answer: A,D

Explanation:
Option D and C are the correct policies that must be configured to meet the requirements. A Maintenance Policy specifies how the changes are applied when a service profile is associated or disassociated with a server or when an updated service profile is applied to a server. A Power Control Policy allows users to select how Cisco UCS Manager should restore power to the servers in a chassis after the chassis loses power. References:
