- B. Transportation zones are physical locations.
- C. Transportation zones are used to group locations.
- D. Transportation zones increase the effort needed to model the network.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:
Master Data

NEW QUESTION # 66

Which of the following incompatibility types can you use in the Automatic and Manual Planning incompatibility area?
Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Carrier - Transportation order
- B. Vehicle resource - Location (stay level)
- C. Freight unit - Freight booking
- D. Transportation request header - Transportation request header

Answer: B,C

NEW QUESTION # 67

A discrepancy is configured with tolerance and blocking. Which of the following blocks are set when a discrepancy outside the configured tolerance is reported for a freight order? Note: There are 3 correct answers to this question.

- A. An invoicing block for the freight unit
- B. A planning block for the freight order
- C. An execution block for the freight unit
- D. An invoicing block for the freight order
- E. An execution block for the freight order

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:

In SAP S/4HANA Transportation Management, discrepancies in freight orders (e.g., differences in weight, quantity, or other attributes) can trigger blocks when they exceed configured tolerances. These blocks prevent certain actions until the discrepancy is resolved. According to the SAP documentation, when a discrepancy outside the tolerance is reported for a freight order:

* An execution block for the freight order (A) is set to prevent further execution steps, such as loading or departure, until the discrepancy is resolved.

* An execution block for the freight unit (B) is applied because the freight unit is directly tied to the goods being transported, and a discrepancy affects its execution status.

* An invoicing block for the freight order (E) is set to ensure that no invoicing occurs until the discrepancy is addressed, as the charges may be impacted.

The options C (invoicing block for the freight unit) and D (planning block for the freight order) are not typically applied:

* Invoicing blocks are generally applied at the freight order level, not the freight unit level, as invoicing is managed through freight orders or freight bookings.

* A planning block for the freight order is not relevant, as discrepancies typically affect execution or invoicing rather than planning, which occurs earlier in the process.
