NEW QUESTION # 58

Which two fields combine to create the Urgency of a notable event?

- A. Priority and Criticality.
- B. Criticality and Severity.
- C. Precedence and Time.
- D. Priority and Severity.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 59

What is the first step when preparing to install ES?

- A. Determine the data sources used.
- B. Determine the size and scope of installation.
- C. Install ES.
- D. Determine the hardware required.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

According to the Splunk Enterprise Security documentation, the first step when preparing to install ES is to determine the size and scope of installation. This involves estimating the amount of data that you plan to ingest, the number of users that will access ES, the number of search heads and indexers that you need, and the hardware requirements for each component. This step helps you plan your deployment architecture and ensure optimal performance and scalability of ES. Therefore, the correct answer is B. Determine the size and scope of installation. NEW QUESTION # 60

Which of the following is a way to test for a property normalized data model?

- A. Run a | datamodel search, compare results to the CIM documentation for the datamodel.
- B. Run a | datamodel search and compare the results to the list of data models in the ES normalization guide.
- C. Use Audit -> Normalization Audit and check the Errors panel.
- D. Run a | loadjob search, look at tag values and compare them to known tags based on the encoding.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

One way to test for a properly normalized data model is to run a | datamodel search against the data model or a dataset within the data model and compare the results to the CIM documentation for the datamodel. The CIM documentation provides the expected fields, tags, and constraints for each data model and dataset, as well as examples of normalized events. By running a | datamodel search, you can examine the JSON output of the data model or dataset and verify that it matches the CIM specifications. You can also use the search mode option of the | datamodel command to return either results or a search string that you can further inspect or modify.
