NEW QUESTION # 25
What is good accessibility?

- A. Good usability of a software product by people with limited vision, hearing, dexterity, cognition or physical mobility
- B. Good usability regardless of disturbances like bright sunlight, noise or wind
- C. Good usability of a software product on all devices (smart phone, computer, etc.)
- D. Good usability of a software product by people with limited knowledge of the software

Answer: A

Explanation:
Accessibility refers to designing products so that people with disabilities or limitations (permanent or temporary) can use them effectively. According to the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) and ISO standards, accessibility focuses on ensuring that users with vision, hearing, cognitive, or mobility impairments can access digital interfaces. Option D captures this intent accurately. The other options relate to general usability or responsiveness (e.g., device adaptability or user experience in noisy environments) but do not address the inclusive nature of accessibility as defined by official guidelines.

NEW QUESTION # 26
Which of the following is a key activity in a usability test session?

- A. Talk to the participant during the completion of a task
- B. Moderate the usability test
- C. Test the set up and modify the test script if needed
- D. Extract usability findings and recommendations

Answer: B

Explanation:
Moderating the usability test is a core activity during the actual usability test session. The moderator guides participants through tasks, ensures the session stays on track, and avoids introducing bias. Option A (testing the setup) happens before the session, during preparation. Option C (extracting findings) occurs during analysis, after the test. Option D (talking during task execution) should be minimized unless necessary, to avoid influencing user behavior. Therefore, option B is the only correct answer aligned with best practices in usability testing.

NEW QUESTION # 27
In a short conversation, a potential customer mentions that accessibility is of great importance to them. What does this mean?

- A. They focus on quantitative usability evaluations
- B. They focus on agile development

- C. They also seek to address users with limitations
- D. They use prototyping in their development process

Answer: C

Explanation:
When a customer emphasizes the importance of accessibility, it means they are concerned with ensuring that users with disabilities or limitations are not excluded from using their products or services. Accessibility is about inclusiveness-providing equal access and opportunity to all users regardless of physical or cognitive ability. Option C directly reflects this understanding. The other options (A, B, and D) are aspects of usability or development methodologies but do not relate to addressing the needs of users with disabilities, which is the core focus of accessibility.

NEW QUESTION # 28
Usability reviews aim to identify potential usability problems based on certain criteria. Which of the following is a reasonable criterion for a usability review?

- A. Opinion of the management
- B. Functional requirements
- C. Usability standards
- D. Statutory Code of Practice

Answer: C

Explanation:
Usability reviews evaluate a system or interface against established usability principles or standards to identify potential issues before user testing. A recognized criterion for such reviews includes adherence to usability standards such as ISO 9241 or the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG). These standards are derived from years of research and user-centered design principles. Options A and C do not directly relate to usability. Functional requirements (option B) refer to what the system should do, not how usable it is.
Hence, option D is correct as usability standards provide a consistent, objective basis for evaluating usability.

NEW QUESTION # 29
Which of the following statements about usability test scripts is wrong?

- A. It contains answers to the test questions.
- B. It is a checklist used by the moderator of a usability test.
- C. It contains post-session interview questions.
- D. It contains pre-session interview questions.

Answer: A

Explanation:
A usability test script is a structured document used by the moderator to ensure consistency across test sessions. It typically includes pre-session briefing text, pre- and post-session interview questions, and the specific usability tasks to be performed. However, it does not include answers to the test questions, as usability tests focus on observing user behavior and performance-not testing users' knowledge. Providing answers would bias results and invalidate findings. Thus, option D is incorrect and the best choice.
