Which three should be considered for building out the business logic layer of the application? Choose 3 answers

NEW QUESTION # 149

How can a developer check the test coverage of active Process Builder and Flows deploying them in a Changing Set?

- A. Use SOQL and the Tooling API
- B. Use the code Coverage Setup page
- C. Use the Flow properties page.
- D. Use the Apex testresult class

Answer: A

Explanation:

To check the test coverage of active Process Builder and Flows deploying them in a Change Set, a developer can use SOQL and the Tooling API. The Tooling API provides the `FlowTestCoverage` object, which represents the test coverage for a flow or process by a given Apex method. The developer can use SOQL queries to retrieve the `FlowTestCoverage` records for the flows and processes that are included in the Change Set, and calculate the overall test coverage percentage. The developer can also use the Tooling API to create, update, or delete `FlowTestCoverage` records.

Option A is incorrect because the Flow properties page does not show the test coverage of the flow or process.

Option B is incorrect because the code Coverage Setup page only shows the test coverage of Apex classes and triggers, not flows or processes. Option C is incorrect because the Apex testresult class only provides information about the test execution results, not the test coverage of flows or processes.

NEW QUESTION # 150

The developer chooses to include helper methods that are not used by the Web Application in the implementation of the Web

Service Class.

- A)
- B)
- C)
- D)

- A. Option D
- B. Option B
- C. Option A
- D. Option C

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Option B, the `webservice` keyword is used to declare the class and the specific method `updateRecords`. This is correct because: The helper method `helperMethod` is private and not exposed to the external application.

The `webserviceMethodUpdateRecords` is declared global static, making it accessible externally.
