IAPP Certified Information Privacy Technologist (CIPT) Sample Questions (Q50-Q55):

NEW QUESTION # 50
A privacy governance program consists of interdependent components. Which component sits at the top of the program and is considered key for its success?

- A. Data inventory and management
- B. Privacy controls
- C. Standards
- D. Law and policy

Answer: D

Explanation:
CIPT emphasizes that the foundation and top driver of a privacy governance program is:
Law and policy (regulatory requirements + internal policies)
These define:
* The rules the organization must follow
* The boundaries for data processing
* The obligations for controls and safeguards
* Governance principles
* Enforcement and accountability mechanisms
All other components - data inventories, standards, privacy controls - derive from policy and legal requirements.
Thus, Law and Policy sit at the top of the privacy hierarchy and govern all other privacy activities.
Correct answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 51
Which of the following would be the most appropriate solution for preventing privacy violations related to information exposure through an error message?

- A. Configuring the environment to use shorter error messages.
- B. Handing exceptions internally and not displaying errors to the user.
- C. Creating default error pages or error messages which do not include variable data.
- D. Logging the session name and necessary parameters once the error occurs to enable trouble shooting.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 52
it Is Important for a privacy technologist to understand dark patterns In order to reduce the risk of which of the following?

- A. Discrimination from profiling.
- B. Manipulation of a user's choice.
- C. Illicit collection of personal data.
- D. Breaches of an individual's data.

Answer: B

Explanation:
it is important for a privacy technologist to understand dark patterns in order to reduce the risk of manipulation of a user's choice. Dark patterns are user interface design choices that are intended to manipulate users into taking actions they might not otherwise take.
