NEW QUESTION # 36

Universal Containers has developed custom Apex code and Lightning Components in a Sandbox environment. They need to deploy the code and associated configurations to the Production environment.

What is the recommended process for deploying the code and configurations to Production?

- A. Use the Ant Migration Tool to deploy the Apex code and Lightning Components.
- B. Use a change set to deploy the Apex code and Lightning Components.
- C. Use Salesforce CLI to deploy the Apex code and Lightning Components.
- D. Use the Force.com IDE to deploy the Apex code and Lightning Components.

Answer: B

Explanation:
The recommended process for deploying code and configurations from a Sandbox to Production is to use a change set.
Option C: Use a change set to deploy the Apex code and Lightning Components.
Reference:
"Change sets contain information about the org customizations you want to deploy and the org to which you want to deploy them."
- Salesforce Help: Change Sets
Why Other Options Are Less Preferred:
Option A: The Force.com IDE has been retired and is no longer the recommended tool.
Option B: The Ant Migration Tool is useful but requires more setup and is typically used for complex deployments or CI/CD processes.
Option D: Salesforce CLI is powerful but may not be necessary for straightforward deployments between connected orgs.

NEW QUESTION # 37
A business has a proprietary Order Management System (OMS) that creates orders from their website and fulfills the orders. When the order is created in the OMS, an integration also creates an order record in Salesforce and relates it to the contact as identified by the email on the order. As the order goes through different stages in the OMS, the integration also updates It in Salesforce. It is noticed that each update from the OMS creates a new order record in Salesforce.
Which two actions will prevent the duplicate order records from being created in Salesforce?
Choose 2 answers

- A. Write a before trigger on the order object to delete any duplicates.
- B. Use the email on the contact record as an external ID.
- C. Ensure that the order number in the OMS is unique.
- D. Use the order number from the OMS as an external ID.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
The problem of duplicate order records is caused by the integration not being able to identify the existing order record in Salesforce and creating a new one instead. To prevent this, the integration needs to use a unique identifier that can match the order record in both systems. The order number in the OMS can serve as such an identifier, if it is guaranteed to be unique and not reused.
Therefore, the following actions can prevent the duplicate order records from being created in Salesforce:
* Option A: Ensure that the order number in the OMS is unique. This will ensure that there is no ambiguity or confusion when matching the order records in both systems.
* Option B: Use the order number from the OMS as an external ID. An external ID is a custom field that can be used to store a unique identifier from an external system. By using the order number from the OMS as an external ID, the integration can use the upsert operation to either insert a new order record or update an existing one based on the external ID value.

NEW QUESTION # 38
Universal Containers stores the availability date on each Line Item of an Order and Orders are only shipped when all of the Line Items are available. Which method should be used to calculate the estimated ship date for an Order?

- A. Use a CEILING formula on each of the Latest availability date fields.
- B. Use a DAYS formula on each of the availability date fields and a COUNT Roll-Up Summary field on the Order.

- C. Use a LATEST formula on each of the latest availability date fields.
- D. Use a Max Roll-Up Summary field on the Latest availability date fields.

Answer: D

Explanation:
To calculate the estimated ship date for an Order, the best method is to use a Max Roll-Up Summary field on the Latest availability date fields. A Roll-Up Summary field calculates values from related records, such as the sum, minimum, maximum, or count of a field1. By using a Max Roll-Up Summary field on the Latest availability date fields, the Order record can display the latest date among all the Line Items, which is the earliest date that the Order can be shipped.
The other options are not correct because:
* A. Use a CEILING formula on each of the Latest availability date fields. This option is not valid, because a CEILING formula rounds a number up to the nearest integer2. This does not help to calculate the estimated ship date for an Order, as it does not compare the dates of the Line Items or display the result on the Order record.
* B. Use a DAYS formula on each of the availability date fields and a COUNT Roll-Up Summary field on the Order. This option is not valid, because a DAYS formula returns the number of days between two dates2. This does not help to calculate the estimated ship date for an Order, as it does not account for the latest date among the Line Items or display the result on the Order record. A COUNT Roll-Up Summary field only counts the number of related records, not the values of a field1.
* C. Use a LATEST formula on each of the latest availability date fields. This option is not valid, because there is no such formula function as LATEST in Salesforce2. Even if there was, it would not help to calculate the estimated ship date for an Order, as it would not display the result on the Order record.
