IBM Instana Observability v1.0.277 Administrator - Professional Sample Questions (Q21-Q26):

NEW QUESTION # 21
Which order of precedence applies if a user is a member of multiple groups and the level of access is not the same?

- A. Access all, Limited access, No access
- B. No access, Limited access, Access all
- C. Access all, No access, Limited access
- D. Limited access, No access, Access all

Answer: B

Explanation:
According to IBM Instana documentation, access rights for users belonging to multiple groups are resolved by applying the most restrictive role. The documentation states: "If a user belongs to more than one group, the permissions are set according to the order: No access > Limited access > Access all. If there's a conflict, 'No access' always takes precedence, followed by 'Limited access,' then 'Access all.'" This ensures that users do not gain unintended permissions due to overlapping group assignments and supports the principle of least privilege. This behavior is critical for security compliance and consistent access control, especially in regulated environments or where different teams have varying visibility requirements. By enforcing the strictest restriction, Instana reduces risk from misconfigurations and accidental escalation of privilege, and helps satisfy audit trail and governance requirements in enterprise use cases.

NEW QUESTION # 22
How can an administrator collect initial troubleshooting information in self-hosted Standard Edition?

- A. stanctl collect
- B. stanctl debug
- C. stanctl trace
- D. stanctl must-gather

Answer: D

Explanation:
Administrators managing self-hosted Standard Edition clusters can generate diagnostic bundles using the verified IBM command stanctl must-gather. The documentation specifies: "The 'stanctl must-gather' command collects logs, configuration files, and relevant diagnostic output from all components for analysis and support submission." This standardized data-collection utility aggregates information across microservices and stores it into an archive for troubleshooting. Other commands (trace, debug, collect) serve specific functions but do not generate the comprehensive support package expected by IBM Support. Must-gather ensures inclusion of system status, resource snapshots, and error contexts, effectively accelerating issue resolution. This feature parallels other IBM products' must-gather standards, ensuring consistent methodology for customer support cases and automated diagnostics workflow.

NEW QUESTION # 23
By default, which rate limit is applied to Instana API calls for per hour usage?

- A. 1,000
- B. 5,000
- C. 6,000
- D. 10,000

Answer: B

Explanation:

Instana sets API rate limits to ensure fair resource usage and platform stability across accounts. According to the IBM Instana Observability documentation, "The default rate limit for the Instana REST API is 5,000 calls per hour per account." This policy is enforced automatically; when an account's API activity reaches the limit, further requests are temporarily blocked until the next hour begins. This guards against accidental overload as well as malicious consumption, and is fundamental for multi-tenant operation. Organizations may request increases for large-scale use cases, but 5,000 per hour is the standard value pre-configured for all accounts. Instana recommends that automation and integrations are engineered to respect this quota, using exponential backoff and batching if needed. Values such as 10,000, 6,000, or 1,000 are not defaults, and modifying them requires special support intervention.

NEW QUESTION # 24

Which statement accurately describes the use of the agent key?

- A. It is used only for deploying an instance.
- B. It is not included in the purchase email and must be obtained separately.
- C. It is used for both downloading Instana artifacts and deploying an instance.
- D. It is required only for downloading the license.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The IBM Instana Observability product architecture uses a security credential called an agent key for authentication and authorization in both installation and deployment operations. The documentation explicitly affirms: "The agent key must be used for downloading Instana installation artifacts from IBM repositories as well as for deploying agents to connect to the backend." This binding ensures entitlement enforcement and integrity of data transfer. The key, distributed through official IBM entitlement channels or purchase confirmation emails, validates the customer's licensed environment. During deployment, the same key is included in configuration files or environment variables so that each agent securely authenticates to its assigned backend instance. This unified mechanism simplifies lifecycle management while maintaining strong license controls. The key is never generated manually nor limited to licensing download alone-its dual purpose makes it critical in both provisioning and operations stages.

NEW QUESTION # 25

Which statement is true about webhook URL authentication?

- A. Basic authentication is not supported due to security constraints.
- B. Specification of additional Headers is not supported for authentication.
- C. Prepend username and password to the hostname URL for authentication.
- D. Only Authorization HTTP request header is supported.

Answer: C

Explanation:

According to IBM Instana's integration documentation, webhook notifications support Basic Authentication by embedding the username and password into the URL as part of the standard format (https://user:password@hostname/path). The exact extract from IBM states: "For webhooks requiring basic authentication, username and password must be specified by prepending these values to the webhook hostname in the URL." This approach is supported by most HTTP libraries and ensures ease of integration with third-party endpoints. Instana also allows other advanced authentication mechanisms for webhooks, but this is the documented approach for standard Basic Auth scenarios. Additional header configuration (B) is possible but not required for basic authentication, and option D is incorrect as Basic Auth is explicitly supported (and documented). Limiting to only the Authorization header (C) oversimplifies the supported authentication workflows.
