Juniper Security, Associate (JNCIA-SEC) Sample Questions (Q67-Q72):

NEW QUESTION # 67

What happens when traffic is matched by a unified security policy?

- A. Further processing stops and traffic is assigned a dynamic application.
- B. Processing continues until it matches three or more policies.
- C. Processing continues to any additional unified policies.
- D. Further policy processing stops and applies the action.

Answer: D

Explanation:

When traffic matches a unified security policy, the SRX immediately stops further policy evaluation and applies the action (such as permit, deny, or reject) defined in that matching policy.

Unified security policies, like traditional ones, are processed in a top-down order.

NEW QUESTION # 68

You are modifying the NAT rule order and you notice that a new NAT rule has been added to the bottom of the list. In this situation, which command would you use to reorder NAT rules?

- A. up
- B. insert
- C. run
- D. top

Answer: B

Explanation:

The insert command is used to reorder NAT rules in Junos OS. It allows you to move a rule to a specific position within the rule set, such as insert rule rule-name before rule other-rule-name.

This ensures the correct evaluation order for NAT processing.

NEW QUESTION # 69

What happens if no match is found in both zone-based and global security policies?

- A. The traffic is allowed by default.
- B. The traffic is discarded by the default security policy.
- C. The traffic is redirected to a predefined safe zone.
- D. The traffic is logged for further analysis.

Answer: B

Explanation:

If traffic does not match any zone-based or global security policy, the SRX applies the default security policy, which denies and discards the traffic silently. This ensures that only explicitly permitted traffic is allowed through the firewall.

NEW QUESTION # 70

Which two statements are correct about the null zone on an SRX Series device? (Choose two.)

- A. The null zone is a functional security zone.
- B. Traffic sent or received by an interface in the null zone is discarded.

- C. You must enable the null zone before you can place interfaces into it.
- D. The null zone is created by default.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

According to the Juniper SRX Series Services Guide, the null zone is a predefined security zone that is created on the SRX Series device when it is booted. Traffic that is sent to or received on an interface in the null zone is discarded. The null zone is not a functional security zone, so you cannot enable or disable it.

NEW QUESTION # 71

What is a purpose for creating multiple routing instances on an SRX Series Firewall device?

- A. to maintain separation of routing information for security purposes
- B. to simplify the configuration of network interfaces
- C. to enable network monitoring through SNMP

Multiple routing instances are used to isolate and separate routing tables, enabling logical segmentation of traffic for security and traffic separation purposes on the SRX Series Firewall.
