ISQI IREB Certified Professional for Requirements Engineering. Foundation Level Sample Questions (Q90-Q95):

NEW QUESTION # 90

Which of the following sentences is true?

- A. Modeling an original to be created is called descriptive modeling.
- B. All the other options are wrong.
- C. A model is used to increase information in relation to the reality, allowing for a deeper understanding.
- D. Modeling the existing original is called prescriptive modeling.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 91

The level of detail of requirements can be lower when:

- A. Shared understanding of the problem is low.
- B. Freedom given to developers is low.
- C. The availability of feedback from stakeholders is high.
- D. The developing team is less familiar with the context.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

CPRE notes that required detail depends on several factors. When teams know little about the domain, when shared understanding is weak, or when developers must be tightly constrained, more detailed and formal requirements are needed to avoid misinterpretation. Conversely, if stakeholders are highly available and can provide frequent feedback-e.g., in agile projects with close collaboration-requirements can initially be less detailed because uncertainties will be clarified iteratively. Thus, higher stakeholder feedback allows a lower initial detail level, making option D correct.

NEW QUESTION # 92

Choose the WRONG sentence regarding life cycle management in Requirements Engineering.

- A. It controls the quality of a set of requirements.
- B. It records the actual transitions between states that occur in a requirement.
- C. It is applicable to both requirements and specifications.
- D. It establishes the possible statuses of a work product or requirement.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Life cycle management defines allowed states (draft, approved, implemented, retired, etc.) and the transitions between them for requirements and other RE work products, fulfilling A and B. It applies not only to single requirements but also to documents or baselines, so C is correct. However, quality control-checking adequacy, completeness or consistency-is performed by validation, reviews and quality assurance activities, not by life cycle management itself. State transitions may be conditional on quality checks, but life cycle management does not "control the quality" per se. Therefore D is the wrong statement.

NEW QUESTION # 93

Which of the following is a disadvantage of template-based work products?

- A. The structure is not reusable.
- B. Not-included aspects are likely to be omitted.
- C. There are no real disadvantages.
- D. Requirements do not look uniform.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Template-based documents and forms enforce a common structure, making requirements more uniform (contradicting A) and inherently reusable across projects (contradicting B). However, they have notable downsides: people may focus on filling the template rather than thinking deeply about content, and any aspect not explicitly represented by a field in the template tends to be overlooked. This can lead to missing important information. Therefore option D correctly captures a documented disadvantage; C is obviously false because the syllabus explicitly lists cons.

NEW QUESTION # 94

One task of the requirements engineer is negotiation of requirements. At this point, conflicts between the stakeholders may be discovered. These must then be resolved. In this process, a differentiation is made between various kinds of conflict. Which two of the listed conflicts are least suitable for handling by the requirements engineer? (1 Point)

- A. Structural conflict
- B. Subject matter conflict
- C. Architectural conflict
- D. Cost conflict
- E. Value conflict

Answer: C,D
