- D. Credentials stored in the Vault for the target machine

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

According to the CyberArk Defender PAM documentation<sup>1</sup>, when a user initiates a PSM connection to the target Linux machine using RemoteApp via PVWA, the client's machine makes an RDP connection to the PSM server using the PSMConnect user. The PSMConnect user is a local or domain user that starts PSM sessions on the PSM machine. The PSMConnect user has limited permissions and access rights on the PSM server, and its credentials are managed by the CPM. The user can then interact with the target machine through the PSM session, while the PSM server records and audits the session activity.
