Linux Foundation Certified GitOps Associate Sample Questions (Q60-Q65):

NEW QUESTION # 60

In the context of GitOps, which of the following is the primary purpose of Desired State?

- A. To store all persistent application data, such as database content.
- B. For monitoring real-time application performance.
- C. To track code changes that developers have made.
- D. To serve as a blueprint to recreate a system for behavioral consistency.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Desired State in GitOps is the declarative specification of how the system should behave. It is stored in Git and serves as the reference point for reconciliation against the actual state.

"The desired state is a complete specification of the system stored in Git. It acts as the blueprint from which the actual state is continuously reconciled, ensuring the system remains consistent and reproducible." Thus, the primary purpose of Desired State is to act as a blueprint to recreate and ensure consistency of the system.

NEW QUESTION # 61

What is one of the key benefits of a pull-based reconciliation approach to configuration management?

- A. Agents can access the Desired State at any time, not only when an event is triggered.
- B. Immediate response time to configuration changes.
- C. The CI has access credentials to the running system.
- D. Simplified troubleshooting and debugging processes.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In GitOps, the pull-based reconciliation approach means that agents continuously monitor the Desired State in Git. Unlike push-based systems, which only act when triggered, pull-based systems can reconcile at any time, providing resilience, self-healing, and security (since no external system needs direct access to the cluster).

"In a pull-based model, reconciliation agents continuously fetch and compare the desired state, enabling self-healing and ensuring the desired configuration is accessible at all times." Thus, the correct answer is B.

References: GitOps Principles (CNCF GitOps Working Group), Pull vs. Push reconciliation models.

NEW QUESTION # 62

Why is the feedback loop important for reconciliation?

- A. Feedback loop is not important for reconciliation.
- B. To determine if a reconciliation is needed and whether a sync should be partial or complete.
- C. To trigger an alert if a change is detected, and log the event to the log aggregation service.
- D. To analyze state-sync logging information and perform a sync.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The feedback loop is critical in GitOps reconciliation. It continuously monitors the system's actual state and compares it to the desired state. This loop determines when reconciliation is required and whether a full or partial synchronization is necessary.

"The feedback loop in reconciliation continuously observes the actual state. It determines if reconciliation is required, and informs whether to perform a partial or full sync to align with the declared desired state." Thus, the correct answer is A.

NEW QUESTION # 63

Manual updates are common causes of what?

- A. Changes in actual state leading to drift.
- B. Changes in Desired State leading to failure.
- C. Changes in actual state leading to variance.
- D. Changes in Desired State leading to drift.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In GitOps, the desired state is stored in Git. Manual updates applied directly to the cluster (via kubectl or APIs) change the actual state without updating Git. This introduces drift between actual and desired state.

"Manual changes to the runtime environment cause the actual state to diverge from the desired state stored in Git. This drift must be detected and reconciled automatically." Thus, the correct answer is C.

References: GitOps Principles (CNCF GitOps Working Group), Drift and Reconciliation.

NEW QUESTION # 64

In the context of GitOps, what is the purpose of a State Store?

- A. To provide a system for storing the current state of an application.
- B. To provide a system for storing temporary state data during GitOps deployments.
- C. To provide a system for storing mutable versions of Desired State declarations.
- D. To provide a system for storing immutable versions of Desired State declarations.

Answer: D

Explanation:

A State Store in GitOps is the system of record where Desired State declarations are kept. It must be immutable and versioned to ensure full auditability, traceability, and rollback capabilities. Git itself is the most common State Store.

"The Desired State must be stored in a State Store that is versioned and immutable. This guarantees traceability and enables recovery by reverting to previous commits." Thus, the correct answer is D.
