IIA Essentials of Internal Auditing Sample Questions (Q521-Q526):

NEW QUESTION # 521
The internal audit activity is responsible for conducting fraud investigations. A potential fraud instance was identified during an audit engagement. The chief audit executive appoints a lead investigate. Which of the following would most likely be the next step?

- A. Determine me competencies needed and assess whatever team members have a conflict of interest.
- B. Identify and interview witnesses first potential suspects later.
- C. Ask internal auditors to gather all relevant information evidence
- D. Conduct a fraud risk assessment to the most vulnerable areas.

Answer: A

Explanation:
After a potential fraud instance is identified and a lead investigator is appointed, the most likely next step is to determine the competencies needed for the investigation team and assess whether any team members have a conflict of interest. This step ensures that the investigation is conducted by appropriately skilled and unbiased personnel, which is crucial for maintaining the integrity and effectiveness of the investigation process.
