Oracle Cloud Database Services 2025 Professional Sample Questions (Q80-Q85):

NEW QUESTION # 80
You are tasked with checking the status of the Exadata Database Service (ExaDB) components using the dcli utility. You need to gather information about the health and status of the database servers and storage cells across the ExaDB infrastructure. Which dcli command, combined with appropriate commands run across the nodes, will provide the most comprehensive overview?

- A. dcli -g cell_group "list cell attributes name, status" combined with dcli -g dbnodes "srvctl status database -d dbname"
- B. dcli -g cell_group "list cell attributes name, status, metriccurrent"
- C. dcli -g dbnodes "list dbnodes"
- D. dcli -g all "list status"

Answer: A

Explanation:
A: dcli -g cell_group "list cell attributes name, status" combined with dcli -g dbnodes "srvctl status database -d dbname" dcli Utility:
* dcli(Distributed Command Line Interface) allows you to run commands on multiple nodes simultaneously.
* cell_group: A group configuration file listing all storage cells.
* dbnodes: A group configuration file listing all database nodes.
Commands Explanation:
* dcli -g cell_group "list cell attributes name, status":
* Retrieves the name and current status of each storage cell.
* dcli -g dbnodes "srvctl status database -d dbname":
* Checks the status of the database instances on the compute nodes.
* Combining these commands provides a complete picture of both storage and compute components.
Why the other options are incorrect:
* B. Including metriccurrent:Produces excessive output, not suitable for a quick health check.
* C. Listing dbnodes only:Insufficient as it lacks storage cell status.
* D. dcli -g all "list status":Invalid syntax and lacks specificity.

NEW QUESTION # 81
Which is NOT a typical function provided by a NoSQL Database Cloud Service SDK related to data operations?

- A. Handling pagination of query results.
- B. Constructing requests to insert, update, or delete data records.
- C. Serializing and deserializing data between application objects and database records.
- D. Automatically optimizing query execution plans for best performance.

Answer: D

Explanation:
A: Automatically optimizing query execution plans for best performance.
Query Optimization:
* Query optimization is handled by the database engine itself, not the SDK.
* SDKs are primarily focused on providing an interface for data operations, not on internal query optimization.
Why the other options are typical SDK functions:
* B. Constructing requests:SDKs facilitate building and sending data manipulation requests.
* C. Serializing data:Converting data between application objects and database formats is a core SDK function.
* D. Handling pagination:SDKs often include utilities to manage large result sets.

NEW QUESTION # 82
Which of the following DOES NOT directly contribute to the calculation of provisioned read capacity units (RCUs) required for a NoSQL Database Cloud Service table?

- A. Number of reads expected per second.
- B. Average record size being read.
- C. Data consistency requirements.
- D. Complexity of the security roles defined on the table.

Answer: D

Explanation:
RCU Calculation:
Read Capacity Units (RCUs) are determined based on data size (average record size), read frequency (number of reads per second), and consistency level (eventual vs. strong consistency). Complex security roles do not impact the calculation because they do not directly influence the amount of data read or the frequency of access.
Why the other options are correct:
* A:Larger record sizes increase RCU requirements.
* B:Higher read frequency demands more RCUs.
* D:Strong consistency requires more read operations compared to eventual consistency.

NEW QUESTION # 83
Which statement accurately describes the patching process for Oracle Grid Infrastructure (GI) and ASM components on a BaseDB VM system when using user-managed patching?

- A. Patching GI and ASM components is only required when the operating system of the VM is upgraded.
- B. The DBA must manually download the GI and ASM patch bundles and apply them using the appropriate patching tools.
- C. GI and ASM patching is fully automated by Oracle Cloud Infrastructure and requires no user intervention.
- D. GI and ASM patching is integrated with the database patching process and is automatically handled when the database is patched.

Answer: B

Explanation:
B: Manual patching for GI and ASM:
* In auser-managed environment, the DBA is responsible for downloading and applying patches for Grid Infrastructure (GI)andAutomatic Storage Management (ASM).
* These patches are distinct fromdatabase patchesand need to be applied using tools likeopatchorOracle Universal Installer (OUI).
* The process involves:
* Downloading the patch from Oracle Support.
* Staging the patch on the server.
* Applying the patch using the appropriate commands.
Why the other options are incorrect:
* A. Fully automated by OCI:OCI does not automatically patch GI and ASM in user-managed environments.
* C. Integrated with database patching:GI and ASM patching is handled separately.
* D. Required only during OS upgrade:Incorrect, as patching is required independently for security and stability.

NEW QUESTION # 84
A critical query running on your HeatWave cluster is experiencing significant performance degradation.
Which tool or service should you use to identify and analyze the specific query causing the bottleneck?

- A. OCI Events for tracking query start and end times.
- B. OCI Bastion for secure access to the query execution environment.
- C. MySQL Slow Query Log and OCI Logging Analytics.
- D. OCI Vault for auditing query execution.
- E. OCI Network Visualizer for analyzing network latency.

Answer: C

Explanation:

MySQL Slow Query Log:

TheMySQL Slow Query Logrecords queries that exceed a specified execution time threshold. It is essential for identifyinglong-running queriesthat may be causing performance bottlenecks.

OCI Logging Analytics:

By integrating the slow query log withOCI Logging Analytics, users can visualize query performance patterns, generate alerts, and identify the root cause of slow performance. This combination is powerful for detecting and addressingquery-specific issues.

Why the other options are incorrect:

* A:OCI Vault is used for managing encryption keys, not query performance.

* B:OCI Events track general occurrences, not detailed query performance.

* D:Network latency analysis is useful but not directly related to query analysis.

* E:OCI Bastion provides secure access, not performance analytics.
