Apple Deployment and Management Exam Sample Questions (Q211-Q216):

NEW QUESTION # 211
How can you identify if a Rapid Security Response was applied to iPadOS?

- A. The letters ".eve" are appended to the operating system version.
- B. A single-digit identifier is appended to the operating system version.
- C. The letters ".rsr" are appended to the operating system version.
- D. A single-letter identifier is appended to the operating system version.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Apple introducedRapid Security Response (RSR)to deliver urgent security patches without waiting for a full OS release. When an RSR is applied to iOS, iPadOS, or macOS, Apple adds asingle letter (such as "a", "b", or "c")to the OS version. For example, iPadOS 16.5 (a) indicates an RSR patch has been installed. Apple Learning documents clarify that these patches can later be incorporated into full OS updates, at which point the letter disappears. This simple identifier lets IT admins and users quickly confirm whether a device has received critical security protections.

NEW QUESTION # 212
What do you need to consider when evaluating MDM solutions?

- A. A device's life cycle and trade-in value
- B. Support for watchOS
- C. Pricing structure and subscription model

Answer: C

Explanation:
When evaluating Mobile Device Management (MDM) solutions, a critical factor to consider is the pricing structure and subscription model. Organizations must assess their budget, the number of devices to manage, and projected growth to ensure the MDM solution is cost-effective and scalable. This includes understanding per-device licensing fees, subscription tiers, and additional costs for features. While support for watchOS (option A) may be relevant for specific use cases, it's not a universal consideration for all MDM evaluations. A device's life cycle and trade-in value (option C) pertains to hardware management, not the MDM solution itself. The Apple Platform Deployment Guide emphasizes aligning MDM costs with organizational needs, making pricing structure a key evaluation criterion.

NEW QUESTION # 213

Which declarative device management declarations can an MDM server use to store values on a device?

- A. Devices
- B. Enrollments
- C. Activations
- D. Security

Answer: C

Explanation:
Activations store values. TheMobile Device Management Protocol Referencestates, "Declarative Device Management uses Activations declarations to store values on a device, enabling proactive state management."References:
Mobile Device Management Protocol Reference, "Declarative Management" section.
Apple Platform Deployment Guide, "DDM" section.

NEW QUESTION # 214

Which MDM payload can you configure to prioritize traffic using Cisco Fastlane enhanced Quality of Service on Mac computers?

- A. Restrictions
- B. Network Usage Rules
- C. Wi-Fi
- D. VPN

Answer: C

Explanation:
The Wi-Fi payload supports Cisco Fastlane QoS. The Mobile Device Management Protocol Reference states, "The Wi-Fi payload supports Cisco Fastlane QoS settings, allowing administrators to prioritize traffic for critical applications on macOS devices."
Options A, B, and D serve different purposes.
Reference:
Mobile Device Management Protocol Reference, "Wi-Fi Payload" section. macOS Deployment Reference, "Network Configuration" section.

NEW QUESTION # 215

Which type of device supports macOS Server features?

- A. iPhone with iOS 13 or later
- B. Apple Watch with watchOS 6 or later
- C. iPad with iPadOS 13 or later
- D. Mac with macOS 10.14 or later

Answer: D

Explanation:
macOS Server features (e.g., Profile Manager, file sharing) are supported on Mac computers running macOS. While macOS Server as a standalone app was discontinued after macOS 10.13, its features were integrated into macOS itself starting with 10.14 (Mojave) and later. iPads (option A), iPhones (option B), and Apple Watches (option D) don't support macOS Server functionality, as they run different operating systems. The Apple Platform Deployment Guide specifies macOS requirements for these features.
