NEW QUESTION # 139
An org has 2 requirement that addresses on Contacts and Accounts should be normalized to a company standard by Apex code any time that they are saved.
What is the optimal way to implement this?

- A. Apex trigger on Account that calls the Contact trigger to normalize the address
- B. Apex triggers on Contact and Account that call a helper class to normalize the address
- C. Apex trigger on Contact that calls the Account trigger to normalize the address
- D. Apex triggers on Contact and Account that normalize the address

Answer: D

Explanation:
Apex triggers on Contact and Account that normalize the address are the optimal way to implement this requirement. Apex triggers are the best option to perform logic on records before or after they are saved. Normalizing the address is a common logic that can be applied to both Contact and Account records, so it makes sense to have separate triggers for each object that perform the same logic. This way, the developer can avoid calling one trigger from another, which can cause recursion or dependency issues. The developer can also reuse the same code for normalizing the address by creating a helper class that is called by both triggers.
