HPE Aruba Networking ClearPass Exam Sample Questions (Q55-Q60):

NEW QUESTION # 55

A company uses ClearPass with Active Directory as both the authentication and authorization source. What is the advantage of this setup?

- A. It allows for both credential validation and account attribute retrieval.
- B. It simplifies the network topology by eliminating external servers.
- C. It ensures that only internal devices can access the network.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Using Active Directory for both authentication and authorization allows ClearPass to validate user credentials and simultaneously retrieve directory attributes such as group membership. This enables consistent, attribute-based policy decisions without requiring a separate identity source.

NEW QUESTION # 56

An IT administrator is setting up guest access on a corporate network using ClearPass. They have configured the RADIUS service correctly and enabled the Allow All MAC AUTH method.

However, they notice that clients are not redirected to the captive portal for authentication. What is the likely reason for this issue?

- A. The MAC caching feature is not enabled for the guest access service.
- B. The guest repository is not properly tagging the endpoints with the necessary information.
- C. The 'captive portal access' value does not match the user role on the gateway associated with the captive portal.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Captive portal redirection depends on a match between the role returned by ClearPass and the user role configured on the gateway. If the captive portal access value sent by ClearPass does not exactly match the gateway's captive portal role, the gateway will not trigger the redirect, even though MAC authentication is allowed.

NEW QUESTION # 57

Which ClearPass component is responsible for enforcing authentication and authorization policies across network devices?

Response:

- A. ClearPass Policy Manager
- B. ClearPass Guest
- C. ClearPass Insight
- D. ClearPass OnGuard

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 58

In a university setting where users often connect more than five devices to the network, an IT administrator notices some devices are problematic and require frequent upgrades. How can ClearPass assist in identifying the impact of these upgrades?

- A. By blocking all problematic devices from connecting to the network
- B. By automatically upgrading all devices to the latest firmware
- C. By profiling devices and allowing the administrator to see the types and number of devices affected quickly

Answer: C

Explanation:

ClearPass can profile connected devices to identify their types, operating systems, and connection details. This allows the administrator to assess how many and which kinds of devices are impacted by upgrades or issues, providing valuable visibility without disrupting network access.

NEW QUESTION # 59

A network administrator is configuring a corporate network enforcement policy. The policy includes rules for corporate-issued laptops, MDM-enabled tablets, and personal smart devices.

However, the administrator notices that some clients are failing all rules due to a lack of profile data. What should the administrator do to ensure these unprofiled clients can access the profiler collectors and receive a profile using best practices?

- A. Set the default enforcement profile to 'Allow Access' for all unprofiled clients.
- B. Increase the frequency of profile data updates from the endpoint profiler.
- C. Add a rule that identifies clients without profiles and assigns them a role allowing limited access to the profiler.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The best practice is to add a rule that detects unprofiled clients and assigns them a limited- access role that permits communication with the profiler collectors. This approach allows ClearPass to gather profiling data securely while preventing unverified devices from gaining unrestricted network access.
