NEW QUESTION # 87

Cloud Kicks has a multi-screen flow that its call center agents use when handling inbound service desk calls.

At one of the steps in the flow, the agents should be presented with a list order numbers and dates that are retrieved from an external order management system in real time and displayed on the screen.

What should a developer use to satisfy this requirement?

- A. An outbound message
- B. An Apex controller
- C. An invocable method
- D. An Apex REST class

Answer: C

Explanation:

To retrieve data from an external system in real time during a flow, the developer should use an invocable method.

Option B: An invocable method

```
public with sharing class OrderService { @InvocableMethod(callout=true)
    public static List<OrderInfo> getOrderData(List<String> inputs) {
        // Callout to external system and return data
    }
}
```

Reference:

"To invoke Apex methods that perform callouts from a flow, use the @InvocableMethod annotation with callout=true."

- Salesforce Developer Guide: Invocable Methods

Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

Option A: An Apex controller is typically used with Visualforce pages or Aura components, not directly with Flows.

Option C: An outbound message sends data to external systems but does not retrieve data.

Option D: An Apex REST class exposes endpoints for external systems to call into Salesforce, not for Salesforce to call out.
