ServiceNow Certified Application Developer-ServiceNow Sample Questions (Q133-Q138):

NEW QUESTION # 133
Can inherited fields be deleted from a table?

- A. Yes, select the red X in the left-most column in the table definition.
- B. Yes, but only if they are text fields.
- C. Yes, but only if there has never been any saved field data.
- D. No, inherited fields cannot be deleted from a child table.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Inherited fields in ServiceNow are fields that are part of a parent table and automatically become part of child tables through inheritance. This structure is foundational in the ServiceNow data model, ensuring that child tables maintain a consistent relationship with their parent tables.

Here's why inherited fields cannot be deleted from a child table:

* System Design:ServiceNow employs a table inheritance model where child tables derive fields and properties from parent tables. Deleting inherited fields from a child table would break the integrity of the data model, as those fields are shared across multiple tables.

* Impact on Functionality:Many inherited fields, such as sys_created_on or sys_updated_by, are integral to the functionality of the platform. Removing them could disrupt workflows, reporting, and auditing capabilities.

* Alternative Approach:If you want to hide or restrict access to inherited fields in a child table, you can use ACLs (Access Control Lists) to prevent users from viewing or modifying these fields. Another option is to use UI Policies or Client Scripts to control their visibility on forms.

* Developer Note:Attempting to delete inherited fields violates ServiceNow's core principles of maintaining a robust and unified data structure. The platform enforces these rules to ensure consistent behavior across all tables in the hierarchy.

NEW QUESTION # 134
Tables that extend a table do what?

- A. Do not inherit the parent's fields
- B. Sometimes inherit the parent's fields
- C. Automatically update the application scope
- D. Inherit the parent's fields

Answer: D

Explanation:
Tables that extend a table inherit the parent's fields. Extending a table means creating a child table that shares the same columns and business logic as the parent table. For example, the Incident table extends the Task table, which means that all fields defined on the Task table are also available on the Incident table. Extending a table allows for reusing existing fields and behaviors without duplicating them on multiple tables.
