CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q79-Q84):

NEW QUESTION # 79

A developer is using an AI tool to generate a complex sorting algorithm for a web application. Which of the following is the best choice to legally generate code in their application?

- A. Use the generated code in their application silently
- B. Credit the author of the generated code in their application
- C. Check the sources the AI tool is using for copyrighted content
- D. Insert comments in their application for the generated code

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. Check the sources the AI tool is using for copyrighted content, because legal and ethical use of AI-generated code depends on ensuring the output does not violate copyright or licensing restrictions. Developers are responsible for verifying that code used in their applications complies with intellectual property laws.

According to the Quentin Docter - CompTIA A+ Complete Study Guide, responsible and appropriate use of AI tools includes validating outputs for accuracy, legality, and compliance. AI systems may generate code that resembles copyrighted or licensed material if their training data includes such sources.

The Travis Everett & Andrew Hutz - All-in-One Exam Guide explains that simply crediting an author or adding comments does not automatically grant legal permission to use copyrighted code. Developers must ensure that the generated code is either original, properly licensed, or permitted for use under open-source or fair-use terms.

The Mike Meyers / Mark Soper Lab Manual reinforces that silently using generated code without verification can expose organizations to legal risk, including copyright infringement claims. Ethical AI usage requires due diligence before deploying generated outputs into production systems.

Because the question asks for the best legal choice, verifying the AI tool's sources and licensing is the most appropriate action, making D the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 80

A Microsoft OS laptop user requests an alternative log-in authentication method because they have forgotten their password multiple times. Which of the following should a technician enable to satisfy this request?

- A. BitLocker
- B. Windows Hello
- C. Single sign-on
- D. User Account Control

Answer: B

Explanation:

Windows Hello provides alternative authentication methods, such as facial recognition, fingerprint, or PIN, which can help users who frequently forget their passwords.

NEW QUESTION # 81

A technician is setting up a computer for a new user. A requirement is that the user's documents are stored on a network location and not locally on the computer. Which of the following should the technician configure?

- A. Folder redirection
- B. User Account Control
- C. Security groups
- D. File attributes

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. Folder redirection, because folder redirection allows specific user folders-such as Documents, Desktop, and Downloads-to be stored on a network share rather than the local computer. This ensures centralized storage, easier backups, and improved data security.

According to the Quentin Docter - CompTIA A+ Complete Study Guide, folder redirection is commonly used in domain environments to store user data on file servers. This prevents data loss if a workstation fails and allows users to access their files from multiple systems.

The Travis Everett & Andrew Hutz - All-in-One Exam Guide explains that folder redirection works seamlessly with roaming profiles and Group Policy, ensuring that users do not need to manually save files to network drives.

The Mike Meyers / Mark Soper Lab Manual clarifies that file attributes only affect file behavior, UAC controls privilege elevation, and security groups control access permissions-but none of these determine where user folders are stored.

Because the requirement is to store documents on a network location instead of locally, configuring folder redirection is the correct and intended solution, making D the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 82

Which of the following is the best reason for a network engineering team to provide a help desk technician with IP addressing information to use on workstations being deployed in a secure network segment?

- A. DHCP services are not enabled for this subnet.
- B. Only specific DNS servers are allowed outbound access.
- C. NAC servers only allow for security updates to be installed.
- D. The network allow list is set to a specific address.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

In secure or isolated network segments, DHCP may be disabled to reduce the risk of unauthorized device connections or to maintain strict IP assignment control. In such cases, the help desk technician must manually configure IP settings (including IP address, subnet mask, gateway, and DNS servers). This ensures the workstation communicates properly within that segment.

A: DNS server restriction is unrelated to manual IP configuration.

B: Allow lists refer to traffic access, but manual IP assignment is due to lack of DHCP, not allow lists.

D: NAC servers control access but don't replace the need for IP addressing.

NEW QUESTION # 83

Which of the following provides disk encryption on computers running a Windows OS?

- A. BitLocker
- B. Private Key
- C. FileVault
- D. PowerShell

Answer: A

Explanation:

BitLocker is a full-disk encryption feature included with certain editions of Windows, designed to protect data by providing encryption for entire volumes.

BitLocker is the correct tool for disk encryption on Windows operating systems, providing full disk encryption.
