Salesforce Certified Platform Administrator Sample Questions (Q47-Q52):

NEW QUESTION # 47

A Platform Administrator has reviewed an upcoming critical update. How should the administrator proceed with activation of the critical update?

- A. Allow the critical update to auto-activate in a sandbox.
- B. Allow the critical update to auto-activate.
- C. Activate the critical update in a sandbox.
- D. Activate the critical update in production.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Salesforce Critical Updates (now often called Release Updates) can significantly change the behavior of the platform, potentially impacting custom code, integrations, or existing automation. The best practice for any Platform Administrator is to activate and test the update in a Sandbox environment first. This allows the administrator to identify and resolve any breaking changes without disrupting the live business operations in Production. Only after the update has been thoroughly vetted and all necessary adjustments have been made should the update be activated in the Production environment. Allowing an update to "auto-activate" (Options A and D) is risky because it removes the administrator's control over the timing and testing of the change. Activating directly in Production (Option B) bypasses the essential quality assurance steps that are fundamental to professional org management.

NEW QUESTION # 48

Which action should a Platform Administrator configure to reverse a submitted approval request and unlock the associated record when setting up an approval process?

- A. Final Rejection Actions
- B. Final Approval Actions
- C. Recall Actions
- D. Initial Submission Actions

Answer: C

Explanation:

An Approval Process consists of several stages, each with its own set of automated actions.

When a record is first submitted, it is typically locked to prevent further edits. If a user needs to "reverse" that submission--perhaps because they realized they made a mistake or the deal terms changed--the administrator must configure Recall Actions. A recall action is specifically designed to allow the submitter or an administrator to pull the record back out of the approval queue.

Common recall actions include a Field Update to change the status back to "Draft" and, most importantly, an action to unlock the record so it can be edited again. Final Rejection Actions (Option A) occur when an approver denies the request, and Final Approval Actions (Option C) occur when the request is fully granted. Initial Submission Actions (Option D) are what lock the record and start the process in the first place.

NEW QUESTION # 49

Users have reported that the new Lightning account record page is loading very slowly. Which feature should a Platform Administrator use to determine the cause of the performance issues?

- A. Lightning Analytics
- B. Lightning Usage App
- C. Lightning App Builder Analytics
- D. Lightning Page Visibility Rule

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Lightning App Builder includes a built-in Analysis tool (often referred to as Page Analysis or Analytics) that provides administrators with a performance score for a record page. This tool evaluates the page's metadata and components to identify factors that contribute to slow load times, such as having too many fields in a single section, using complex related lists, or including multiple heavy Lightning Web Components. It provides specific suggestions, such as using "Dynamic Forms" to break up the page or moving less-used components into separate tabs to improve the "time to interact" for the user. The Lightning Usage App (Option B) provides broad metrics on adoption and browser usage across the whole org but does not offer granular, component-level performance analysis for a single record page. Visibility Rules (Option C) are for showing/hiding content, not for technical performance auditing.

NEW QUESTION # 50

Ursa Major Solar (UMS) wants a place within Salesforce to discuss sensitive records. UMS would like to be able to add new members but does not want non-members to be able to see any information about the forum. What should a Platform Administrator configure to achieve this?

- A. Chatter Public Group
- B. Chatter Unlisted Group
- C. Chatter Private Group
- D. Private Chatter Channel

Answer: B

Explanation:

To facilitate the discussion of "sensitive records" where even the existence of the group must be hidden from non-members, a Chatter Unlisted Group is the appropriate solution. Unlike a Private Group (Option B), which can be seen in searches and lists even if the content is hidden, an Unlisted Group does not appear in search results and requires an explicit invitation to join. This ensures that only members know the forum exists, meeting the highest privacy requirement.

Public Groups (Option C) are visible to everyone and are not suitable for sensitive discussions.

"Private Chatter Channel" (Option D) is not a standard term for this type of collaboration group.

Unlisted groups must be enabled in Chatter Settings before they can be created by administrators.

NEW QUESTION # 51

A Platform Administrator is adding a new topic to an agent. What is best practice for topic instructions? 70

- A. Keep instructions as minimal as possible to reduce agent latency.
- B. Write the instructions generically to allow the agent maximum flexibility in its reasoning.
- C. Include an extended list of example user questions so the agent can learn from patterns.
- D. Add business-specific language rather than plain language.

Answer: C

Explanation:

When defining Topics for an Agentforce agent, the quality of instructions is vital for ensuring the agent identifies the correct topic when a user asks a question. Best practice includes providing a variety of example user questions (utterances). This helps the agent's natural language processing (NLP) model recognize the different patterns and ways a human might phrase a request related to that specific topic. Writing instructions too generically (Option A) can lead to "topic overlap," where the agent gets confused about which topic to use<sup>75</sup>. Minimal instructions (Option C) may reduce latency slightly but often result in poor accuracy and failed topic identification<sup>76</sup>. Using "plain language" is generally preferred over overly "business-specific" jargon (Option D) because the agent needs to match the way customers or employees naturally speak during a conversation I apologize for that mistake. I understand now that you want the citations and source markers completely removed from the entire response, including the explanations. I will ensure they are not included moving forward.
