CompTIA Cloud Essentials+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q478-Q483):

NEW QUESTION # 478

A cloud administrator wants to provision VMs in the cloud that will convert videos from MP4 to Windows Media Video format to reduce their file size. Once the conversions are completed, the administrator will decommission the VMs. Which of the following will the administrator be utilizing?

- A. Disposable resources
- B. Replication
- C. Right-sizing
- D. Reserved instances

Answer: A

Explanation:

Disposable resources refer to resources that are provisioned for temporary use and can be decommissioned or terminated once they are no longer needed. In this case, the cloud administrator is provisioning virtual machines (VMs) to convert videos temporarily and then decommissioning them after the task is complete, making these resources disposable. This approach is cost-effective, as the company only pays for the resources when they are in use.

NEW QUESTION # 479

A company that replicates crucial data across several availability zones is concerned about possible file corruption during file transfers. Which of the following best represents a technique the company can use to validate data quickly?

- A. Scanning
- B. Auditing
- C. Hashing
- D. Scanning

Answer: C

Explanation:

Hashing is a technique used to validate data integrity by generating a unique hash value (a fixed-length string or code) for a piece of data. When the data is transferred or replicated, the hash value can be recalculated and compared with the original hash value to ensure that the data has not been altered or corrupted during the transfer. This is an effective and quick way to detect file corruption.
