Saviynt Certified Advanced IGA Professional (Level 200) Sample Questions (Q59-Q64):

NEW QUESTION # 59

Which of these is NOT a valid campaign type in EIC?

- A. Application Owner Meta Data Campaign
- B. User Manager Campaign
- C. SAV Role Campaign
- D. Organization Owner Campaign

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Saviynt EIC, Campaigns (Certifications) are used to review and validate user access, ensuring compliance and governance. Saviynt provides several predefined campaign types based on different ownership and responsibility models.

User Manager Campaign (A) is a valid campaign type where managers review and certify access of their direct reports. This is one of the most commonly used certification types.

SAV Role Campaign (B) is also valid and focuses on reviewing access related to SAV roles, allowing role owners or administrators to validate role assignments.

Organization Owner Campaign (D) is another valid campaign type, typically used when organizational hierarchy or ownership structures are leveraged for certification responsibilities.

Option C (Application Owner Meta Data Campaign) is not a valid standard campaign type in Saviynt. While application owner-based campaigns do exist (e.g., Entitlement Owner or Application Owner campaigns), "Meta Data Campaign" is not a recognized or supported campaign category in Saviynt EIC. Thus, the correct answer is C, as it does not correspond to any valid campaign type in Saviynt.

NEW QUESTION # 60

Which of the following statements are correct?

- A. Duplicate Identity Management can only merge user attributes but not user access
- B. Duplicate Identity Management feature access need to be added to the SAV Role to view the duplicate identity management
- C. In the Role mining, if the percentage cut-off= 60%, it would perform mining on only the access which is associated with 100% users
- D. The role mining process discovers relationships between users based on similar access permissions that can logically be grouped to form a role

Answer: B,C,D

Explanation:

Saviynt's Role Mining and Duplicate Identity Management (DIM) features are key components of Identity Analytics and Governance. Option A is correct because Role Mining analyzes user access patterns and identifies similarities across users.

Based on these similarities, Saviynt suggests logical groupings of entitlements that can be converted into roles, improving role design and governance.

Option B is also correct. The percentage cut-off in Role Mining defines the threshold for common access across users. A higher threshold (e.g., 60% or more) ensures that only frequently shared entitlements are considered.

In practice, this drives mining toward highly consistent access patterns, often close to universally assigned (near 100%), ensuring stronger role accuracy.

Option C is correct because access to DIM functionality is controlled through SAV Roles. Administrators must explicitly grant permissions to view and manage duplicate identities.

Option D is incorrect because DIM not only merges identity attributes but can also consolidate associated access (accounts and entitlements), ensuring a unified identity profile.

NEW QUESTION # 61

What are the different features available under Role Intelligence? (Multi-Select)

- A. Role Mining
- B. Entitlement Discovery
- C. Role Governance
- D. Role-Access Mismatches

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

In Saviynt EIC, Role Intelligence is a key component of Identity Governance that focuses on analyzing, optimizing, and managing roles effectively. It provides multiple features that help organizations improve role design and maintain compliance.

Role Governance (A) is a core feature that ensures roles are properly defined, reviewed, and certified. It helps maintain accountability and ensures that roles align with business policies.

Entitlement Discovery (B) enables identification and analysis of entitlements across applications, helping administrators understand what access exists and how it can be grouped into meaningful roles. This is essential for building accurate and efficient role models.

Role Mining (C) is one of the most important capabilities, allowing organizations to analyze user access patterns and automatically suggest roles based on common entitlement combinations. This improves role engineering and reduces manual effort.

Option D (Role-Access Mismatches) is not considered a standard feature under Role Intelligence; it is more aligned with analytics or audit findings rather than a core Role Intelligence function.

Therefore, the correct answers are A, B, and C, which represent the foundational features of Role Intelligence in Saviynt.

NEW QUESTION # 62

Which parameter can be used to manipulate data while importing from the target application in REST Connector?

- A. #VALUE#
- B. #nextApiKeyField#
- C. #CONST#
- D. #CHAR#

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Saviynt REST connector configurations, data transformation and manipulation during import (reconciliation) are handled using special keywords or placeholders within JSON mappings. Among the given options, #VALUE# is the correct parameter used to manipulate and transform incoming data from the target application.

The #VALUE# keyword represents the actual value retrieved from the API response and allows administrators to apply transformations such as concatenation, conditional logic, or formatting before storing the data in Saviynt. It is commonly used within accountParams or entitlementParams mappings to ensure that incoming data aligns with Saviynt schema requirements.

Option A (#nextApiKeyField#) is used for pagination handling in REST APIs, helping to fetch subsequent pages of data, not for manipulation. Option C (#CHAR#) is not a valid or commonly used parameter in Saviynt REST connectors. Option D (#CONST#) is used to assign constant/static values but does not manipulate incoming API data dynamically.

Therefore, #VALUE# is the correct parameter used for data manipulation during import in REST connector configurations.

NEW QUESTION # 63

The EIC Administrator observed that all accounts were disabled in Saviynt due to incorrect configuration in the target application. What controls can be implemented in Saviynt to avoid such scenarios?

- A. Use the accountThresholdValue attribute in the STATUS_THRESHOLD_CONFIG connection parameter
- B. It is not possible to set a limit
- C. Use the accEntThresholdValue attribute in the STATUS_THRESHOLD_CONFIG connection parameter
- D. Set the limit in the external config file

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Saviynt EIC, mass unintended changes—such as all accounts being disabled due to incorrect target application configuration—can be prevented using threshold-based controls. These controls are defined using the STATUS_THRESHOLD_CONFIG connection parameter, which acts as a safeguard during reconciliation and provisioning processes.

The correct attribute in this scenario is accountThresholdValue (Option D). This parameter allows administrators to define a threshold limit for account status changes (such as disablement). If the number or percentage of accounts being disabled exceeds the defined threshold, Saviynt can stop or flag the operation, preventing large-scale unintended impact.

Option A (accEntThresholdValue) is used for entitlement-level thresholds, not account status changes.

Option B is incorrect because Saviynt does provide this safeguard mechanism. Option C is also incorrect since such controls are not managed externally but are part of Saviynt's connector configuration.

By using accountThresholdValue within STATUS_THRESHOLD_CONFIG, organizations can implement strong governance and prevent bulk account disablement due to misconfigurations or data issues during account import or reconciliation.
