Adobe Experience Manager DevOps Engineer Expert Sample Questions (Q51-Q56):

NEW QUESTION # 51

After a recent deployment, a business user reports an increase in page load times. What is the first step in troubleshooting this issue?

- A. Increase the Dispatcher cache expiration time
- B. Reconfigure replication agents for faster synchronization
- C. Enable debug logging in CRXDE Lite
- D. Analyze request latency in Cloud Manager reports

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 52

Significant load occurs during peak traffic hours with intermittent 503 responses from AEM publish instances. The DevOps engineer identifies that there is an AEM core component (Image) that creates renditions generated on request from large source files that range over 10 MB.

What should the DevOps engineer do?

- A. Check if path is allowed in cache rules.
- B. Increase Dispatcher memory size.
- C. Restart apache process on Dispatcher(s).
- D. Verify rewrite rules in site virtual host.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Intermittent 503 Service Unavailable errors on publish instances during peak traffic, specifically tied to heavy image rendition generation, indicate that the Publish servers' CPUs are being overwhelmed by repetitive processing. In AEM, these dynamic renditions should only be generated once and then cached by the Dispatcher. If the load is hitting the publish tier constantly, it means the Dispatcher is not caching those rendition requests. The DevOps engineer must check the /rules section under /cache in the dispatcher farm configuration to ensure that the URL patterns for these image renditions are permitted to be cached.

NEW QUESTION # 53

Which tool allows administrators to troubleshoot runtime errors in AEM?

- A. CRXDE Lite
- B. Adobe Admin Console
- C. OSGi Web Console
- D. AEM Workflow Console

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 54

Which command is used to build an AEM project using Maven?

- A. mvn install
- B. mvn clean install
- C. mvn deploy
- D. mvn package

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 55

A DevOps engineer performs a successful local deployment of the source code to the AEM SDK.

Subsequently, a Cloud Manager deployment is initiated via Cloud Manager. The DevOps engineer encounters runtime errors in the pipeline logs.

The following information is discovered from an analysis of the pipeline logs:

- * An exception occurred in the Sling Repository_INITIALIZER
- * The SlingRepository service registration was aborted due to a RuntimeException
- * Failed to set ACL (UnsupportedOperationException): This builder is read only
- * AclLine ALLOW (paths=[/libs/dam/content], privileges=[jcr:read]) at org.apache.sling.jcr.repoint.impl.

AclVisitor.setAcl

What is causing this issue?

- A. The system user lacks permissions in the local AEM SDK.
- B. An OSGI configuration is missing to allow ACL changes during deployment.
- C. The repoint script does not have a runtime exception handler and fails.
- D. The repoint script is trying to modify an immutable path.

Answer: D

Explanation:

AEM as a Cloud Service enforces a strict separation between mutable content (e.g., /content, /conf) and immutable content (e.g., /apps, /libs). Immutable areas are packaged into the read-only base image during the build process and cannot be modified at runtime. When a Repoint script (which executes when the repository initializes) attempts to create nodes or set ACLs on paths beneath /libs or /apps, the Jackrabbit Oak repository rejects the change with an UnsupportedOperationException: This builder is read only, subsequently crashing the Sling Repository service and failing the deployment.
