Salesforce Certified Identity and Access Management Architect Sample Questions (Q54-Q59):

NEW QUESTION # 54

Universal Containers (UC) wants to build a few applications that leverage the Salesforce REST API. UC has asked its Architect to describe how the API calls will be authenticated to a specific user. Which two mechanisms can the Architect provide? Choose 2 Answers

- A. Session ID
- B. Refresh Token
- C. Access Token
- D. Authentication Token

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Explanation

These are the mechanisms that the Salesforce REST API uses for authentication. According to the Salesforce documentation¹, the REST API requires an access token obtained by authentication. The access token is a session credential that represents the authorization of a specific application to access specific parts of a user's data². The access token is valid for a limited time and can be refreshed using a refresh token. A refresh token is a credential that represents the authorization of an application to refresh an expired access token².

Option A is incorrect because an authentication token is not used by the Salesforce REST API. An authentication token is an email security feature that appends a unique string of characters to your password when you log in from an unrecognized device or IP address³. Option B is incorrect because a session ID is not used by the Salesforce REST API. A session ID is a unique identifier for a user's session that can be used for SOAP API calls⁴.

NEW QUESTION # 55

Universal Containers (UC) has implemented a multi-org architecture in their company. Many users have licences across multiple orgs, and they are complaining about remembering which org and credentials are tied to which business process. Which two recommendations should the Architect make to address the Complaints?

Choose 2 answers

- A. Activate My Domain to Brand each org to the specific business use case.
- B. Implement SP-Initiated Single Sign-on flows to allow deep linking.
- C. Implement IdP-Initiated Single Sign-on flows to allow deep linking.
- D. Implement Delegated Authentication from each org to the LDAP provider.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

Explanation

Activating My Domain allows each org to have a unique domain name that can be branded to the specific business use case². This can help users identify which org they are logging into and avoid confusion. Implementing SP-Initiated Single Sign-on flows enables users to start from a service provider (such as Salesforce) and be redirected to an identity provider (such as Active Directory) for authentication³. This can also allow deep linking, which means users can access specific resources within the service provider after logging in⁴. These two recommendations can address the complaints of the users who have licenses across multiple orgs.

NEW QUESTION # 56

Universal Containers is implementing a new Experience Cloud site and the identity architect wants to use dynamic branding features as part of the login process.

Which two options should the identity architect recommend to support dynamic branding for the site?

Choose 2 answers

- A. Do use dynamic branding, the community must be built with the Customer Account Portal template.
- B. An external content management system (CMS) must be used for dynamic branding on Experience Cloud sites.
- C. An experience ID (expid) or placeholder parameter must be used in the URL to represent the brand.
- D. To use dynamic branding, the community must be built with the Audience + Salesforce Tabs template.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Dynamic branding in Experience Cloud relies on the Experience ID, sometimes carried as the expid parameter or equivalent placeholder in the URL, so Salesforce can render the right login experience for the selected brand. This is the scalable way to vary the look and feel without duplicating entire identity stacks. The community template choice can matter because not every template exposes branding capabilities the same way, but the central concept is still the Experience ID. External CMS tools are not required just to route the login experience by brand. From an architecture standpoint, this keeps the login framework centralized while letting the entry experience adapt to whichever brand, campaign, or sub-experience the user selected before authentication. This is why options B, D work together as the correct solution.

NEW QUESTION # 57

A multinational company using the Salesforce platform wants to implement robust user activity verification capabilities to detect unauthorized access and unusual login patterns.

They need real-time monitoring and alerting functionalities to respond promptly to security incidents.

Which Salesforce tool should be utilized to achieve these requirements?

- A. Salesforce Profiles
- B. Salesforce Event Monitoring and Event Log Files
- C. Salesforce Platform Encryption
- D. Salesforce Data Loader

Answer: B

Explanation:

For real-time visibility into login events and other security-relevant user activity, Salesforce Event Monitoring is the purpose-built monitoring feature. Event Monitoring and Event Log Files give security and identity teams access to detailed telemetry about login behavior, session activity, API usage, and other actions that matter for threat detection and investigation. Profiles and encryption settings do not provide operational monitoring, and Data Loader is unrelated. The architectural distinction is between preventive controls and detective controls. Event Monitoring is a detective control: it helps the organization observe behavior, identify anomalies, and react quickly. When the requirement mentions unusual login patterns, security incidents, or real-time monitoring, Salesforce documentation points architects toward Event Monitoring rather than ordinary administrative setup screens. This is why option A is the best answer in Salesforce terms.

NEW QUESTION # 58

Universal Containers (UC) uses a home-grown Employee portal for their employees to collaborate. UC decides to use Salesforce Ideas to allow employees to post Ideas from the Employee portal. When users click on some of the links in the Employee portal, the users should be redirected to Salesforce, authenticated, and presented with the relevant pages. What OAuth flow is best suited for this scenario?

- A. Web Application flow
- B. Web Server flow
- C. SAML Bearer Assertion flow
- D. User-Agent flow

Answer: B
