Cisco Certified Design Expert (CCDE) Written Exam Sample Questions (Q124-Q129):

NEW QUESTION # 124

Which feature must be part of the network design to wait a predetermined amount of time before notifying the routing protocol of a change in the path in the network?

- A. Transmit delay
- B. Throttle timer
- C. SPF hold time
- D. Interface dampening

Answer: C

Explanation:

* C (SPF hold time): Controls the minimum amount of time between Shortest Path First (SPF) recalculations in link-state protocols like OSPF and IS-IS. This mechanism prevents frequent SPF runs due to rapid or transient topology changes, providing stability.

Other options explained:

- * A: Transmit delay affects LSA propagation but not routing protocol recalculation timing.
- * B: Throttle timers are related but primarily control LSA generation intervals.
- * D: Interface dampening suppresses flapping i

NEW QUESTION # 125

[Business-Driven Design Approaches / Recovery Planning] For a company providing online billing systems, which strategy keeps RPO (Recovery Point Objective) as low as possible?

- A. Cloud backup to mirror data
- B. Spare onsite disks
- C. Backup on external storage
- D. Periodic snapshot of data

Answer: A

Explanation:

#Explanation:

- * A: Cloud-based data mirroring offers near-real-time replication, keeping RPO near zero. This is essential for billing systems where even a small amount of data loss could be critical.
- * B and D: Manual or local backups don't offer low RPO unless continuously synced.
- * C: Snapshots are periodic and inherently result in a higher RPO due to the gap between intervals.

NEW QUESTION # 126

A consultant needs to explain different project management methodologies to a customer.

Drag and drop the characteristics from the left onto the corresponding methodologies on the right in no particular order.

NEW QUESTION # 127

Refer to the exhibit.

□ The network 10.10.0 .0/16 has been redistributed to OSPF processes and the best path to the destination from R1 has been chosen as R1-R2-R3 A failure occurred on the link between R2 and R3 and the path was changed to R1-R4-R5-R3 What happens when the link between R2 and R3 is restored'?

- A. The path reverts back to R1-R2-R3 because the route type is E1
- B. The path R1-R4-R5-R3 continues to be the best path because OSPF does not compare the metrics between two domains
- C. The path R1-R4-R5-R3 continues to be the best path because the metric is better
- D. The path reverts to R1-R2-R3 because this was the previous best path

Answer: D

Explanation:

When the link between R2 and R3 is restored, the path reverts back to R1-R2-R3 because this was the previous best path. This is because OSPF uses the Dijkstra algorithm to calculate the shortest path tree (SPT) and the path with the lowest cost is chosen as the best path. In this case, the cost of the path R1-R2-R3 is lower than the cost of the path R1-R4-R5-R3, so the path R1-R2-R3 is chosen as the best path. OSPF also has a preference order for different types of routes, such as intra-area, inter-area, external type 1, external type 2, NSSA type 1, and NSSA type 2. However, this preference order only applies when OSPF has to choose between routes of different types to the same destination. In this scenario, both paths are external type 2 routes, so the preference order does not affect the path selection

NEW QUESTION # 128

Enterprise XYZ wants to implement fast convergence on their network and optimize timers for OSPF However they also want to prevent excess flooding of ISAs if there is a constantly flapping link on the network Which timers can help prevent excess flooding of LSAs for OSPF?

- A. OSPF throttling timers
- B. MPS OSPF flooding timers
- C. OSPF propagation timers
- D. OSPF delay timer

Answer: A
