Snowflake SnowPro® Core Certification (COF-C03) Sample Questions (Q102-Q107):

NEW QUESTION # 102

What will happen if a Snowflake user increases the size of a suspended virtual warehouse?

- A. The warehouse will remain suspended but new resources will be added to the query acceleration service.
- B. The provisioning of additional compute resources will be in effect when the warehouse is next resumed.
- C. The warehouse will resume immediately and start to share the compute load with other running virtual warehouses.
- D. The provisioning of new compute resources for the warehouse will begin immediately.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When a Snowflake user increases the size of a suspended virtual warehouse, the changes to compute resources are queued but do not take immediate effect. The provisioning of additional compute resources occurs only when the warehouse is resumed. This ensures that resources are allocated efficiently, aligning with Snowflake's commitment to cost-effective and on-demand scalability.

NEW QUESTION # 103

Which activities are included in the Cloud Services layer? (Select TWO).

- A. Dynamic data masking
- B. User authentication
- C. Infrastructure management
- D. Partition scanning
- E. Data storage

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

The Cloud Services layer in Snowflake is responsible for a wide range of services that facilitate the management and use of Snowflake, including:

D. User authentication: This service handles identity and access management, ensuring that only authorized users can access Snowflake resources.

E. Infrastructure management: This service manages the allocation and scaling of resources to meet user demands, including the management of virtual warehouses, storage, and the orchestration of query execution.

These services are part of Snowflake's fully managed, cloud-based architecture, which abstracts and automates many of the complexities associated with data warehousing.

NEW QUESTION # 104

Which Snowflake object does not consume any storage costs?

- A. Temporary table
- B. Secure view
- C. Transient table
- D. Materialized view

Answer: A

Explanation:

Temporary tables do not consume any storage costs in Snowflake because they only exist for the duration of the session that created them and are automatically dropped when the session ends, thus incurring no long-term storage charges. ### NEW QUESTION # 105

Which Snowflake objects can be restored using Time Travel? (Select VNO).

- A. Roles
- B. Databases
- C. Schemas
- D. Users
- E. Virtual warehouses

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Snowflake's Time Travel feature allows users to access historical data within a specific period. This feature supports the restoration of various objects, including databases and schemas, to their previous states. Time Travel can be used for recovering dropped objects, undoing accidental changes, or analyzing data changes over time. However, it does not support user or role objects like Users and Roles, or compute resources like Virtual Warehouses. References: Snowflake Documentation on Time Travel

NEW QUESTION # 106

Which kind of Snowflake table stores file-level metadata for each file in a stage?

- A. External
- B. Temporary
- C. Transient
- D. Directory

Answer: D

Explanation:

The kind of Snowflake table that stores file-level metadata for each file in a stage is a directory table. A directory table is an implicit object layered on a stage and stores file-level metadata about the data files in the stage.
