Adobe Real-Time CDP Business Practitioner Professional Sample Questions (Q35-Q40):

NEW QUESTION # 35

A company has completed their implementation of Adobe Experience Platform (AEP) and is successfully onboarding data and profiles, but they are struggling with managing data across their services. What tool would best aid the company in inspecting, manipulating, and analyzing dataset data in AEP Data Lake?

- A. Data Compliance Settings
- B. Adobe Query Service
- C. Data Governance API
- D. Data Usage Labeling and Enforcement (DULE)

Answer: B

Explanation:

Adobe Experience Platform Query Service is the foundational tool designed for inspecting, validating, and transforming data within the Data Lake. While AEP stores data in a NoSQL environment, Query Service provides a standard SQL interface that allows data architects and engineers to interact with datasets as if they were relational tables. This is critical for post-ingestion data preparation and for analyzing complex customer journeys that span multiple datasets.

The service is primarily used for ad hoc data exploration—allowing users to run SELECT queries to verify that ingested data matches the expected schema and quality standards before it is enabled for the Real-Time Customer Profile. Beyond simple inspection, it supports Batch Queries (using "Create Table As Select" or CTAS) to derive new datasets from existing ones, which can then be used for reporting or re-ingested into the Profile Service.

Options A, C, and D refer to the Data Governance framework, which is used for labeling data and enforcing usage policies (DULE) or managing compliance. While these are essential for managing access and privacy, they do not provide the analytical or manipulative capabilities required to query the raw data rows. Query Service remains the only tool within the platform that allows for deep SQL-based analysis of the full Data Lake history.

NEW QUESTION # 36
