Q1. Read the following passage carefully: (12 M)
(1) Five enterprises received approval and grants for prototype development of sustainable educational toys.
(2) The government authorities, educational institutions, and EdTech start-ups are planning to introduce state-of-the-art, made-in-India educational toys that not only throw light on Indian values and civilisations, but also help in developing children's critical thinking and decision-making skills.
(3) One such enterprise is working on different types of projects that can teach children how electromagnets and magnetic fields work. These projects can resolve a lot of issues in many schools in tier 2 and 3 cities, which don't have proper infrastructure. Another is working on an excavation site to teach children about ancient Indian civilisations. It has implanted a few artefacts at the site, which the children will have to find so that they are able to learn how to preserve and label artefacts. Another startup has proposed to create miniature labs for schools in tier 2 and 3 cities, where children can learn concepts of Physics. "We will ensure that these prototypes are developed within a year, and then the production can be scaled up," says the senior manager of the project, talking about the importance of indigenously-built educational toys.
(4) Playtime is vital for the cognitive development of children, and toys are an essential component that helps enhance specific cognitive abilities and skill sets. "Well-designed toys ignite students' curiosity, increase focus, and can be very beneficial in helping them master a skill and enhance understanding. These can be in the form of visuals, auditory aids, kinesthetics, or a mixture of all three", says HOD, Early Childhood Education.
(5) Toys offer an engaging avenue to teach mathematical, verbal, and problem-solving skills. "Toys that engage students in experiential learning enhance their sensory awareness and fine motor skills. Those designed for two or more players help students develop better social skills as they learn to negotiate, settle differences, etc., with their peers."
(6) Experiential gadgets and toys enable students to learn faster and retain lessons longer. "A child's interest is piqued when he is taught in a contextual framework as opposed to rote learning. The Indian education system has been witnessing several innovations with the development of toys and gadgets that can be used and felt in person or through VR platforms across subjects, be it Science, Technology, Math or Engineering."
