Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q43-Q48):

NEW QUESTION # 43

An energy company wants to allow the public to be able to report power outages directly and provide supporting documentation in the form of photos and/or videos. The company also requires the reporter's contact details.

How can a developer design and implement this requirement in Appian?

- A. A site where the user can trigger a process that captures the information including any uploaded files, and uploads everything to an internal Microsoft SharePoint site.
- B. A custom version of the Appian mobile app that the user can use to capture details, attached photos, and upload documents.
- C. A portal that interacts with records that stores the name, address, contact information, with a defined folder to store uploaded documents.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A portal interacting with records can capture public outage reports, contact details, and upload supporting documents to a defined folder, making the process accessible to the public without requiring authentication.

NEW QUESTION # 44

Which two options are correct regarding record relationships when using synced records in your application?

(Choose two.)

- A. Many-to-one relationships can be established using record relationships.
- B. Relationships can be established between any record types that have sync enabled, regardless of the source.
- C. Up to 20 relationships can be added on a record type with data sync enabled.
- D. Record type relationships enforce referential integrity.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Many-to-one relationships can be established between record types using record relationships.

Up to 20 relationships can be added to a record type with data sync enabled, according to Appian platform limits.

NEW QUESTION # 45

After reviewing the latest Expression performance logs, you notice you have several expressions contributing to slow interface or process performance.

Which two conditions will lead to a higher risk associated with slow-performing expressions? (Choose two.)

- A. When the expression is a custom function plug-in.
- B. When the expression is used frequently or by many concurrent users.
- C. When the expression is evaluated on a mobile device.
- D. When the expression is used in a local variable.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

When the expression is used frequently or by many concurrent users.

A slow-running rule that executes a large number of times - or is triggered by many users at once - multiplies its performance impact, raising the overall risk flagged in the expression-performance logs.

When the expression is a custom function plug-in.

Custom Java plug-ins can introduce additional processing overhead (or poorly optimized code). If such functions are slow, they typically appear near the top of performance logs and carry a higher risk score.

NEW QUESTION # 46

Which step should you perform to identify expression rules that have been causing or have caused performance issues in the past 30 days?

- A. Examine the application server log
- B. Navigate to the Admin Console > Rule Performance tab.
- C. Monitor the runtime of all test cases.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Admin Console > Rule Performance tab provides metrics and insights on expression rules that have caused performance issues in the past 30 days, allowing you to identify and address slow-running rules.

NEW QUESTION # 47

You're building an application with a review workflow.

Each submission must be approved by three users who can each approve or reject their request, and leave a comment. This action changes the status of the submission to 'Approved' or 'Rejected' correspondingly, and pushes the review to the previous or next assignee.

Which data model captures the workflow requirements appropriately?

- A. Two tables:
Review with columns id, statusId, comment, user1, user2, user3
Ref Status with columns id, value
- B. Two tables:
Review with columns id, statusId, comment, user
Ref Status with columns id, value
- C. Three tables:
Review to store id, statusId, comment
Ref Status with columns id, value
Review User with columns id, reviewId, user

Answer: C

Explanation:

Using three tables - Review, Ref Status, and Review User - enables you to track each user's approval or rejection, comments, and status changes for each review, supporting a flexible, normalized workflow for multiple reviewers.
