Amazon AWS Certified Solutions Architect - Associate (SAA-C03) Sample Questions (Q211-Q216):

NEW QUESTION # 211

A company has an on-premises MySQL database that handles transactional data. The company is migrating the database to the AWS Cloud. The migrated database must maintain compatibility with the company's applications that use the database. The migrated database also must scale automatically during periods of increased demand.

Which migration solution will meet these requirements?

- A. Use native MySQL tools to migrate the database to Amazon RDS for MySQL. Configure elastic storage scaling.
- B. Use AWS Database Migration Service (AWS DMS) to migrate the database to Amazon DynamoDB. Configure an Auto Scaling policy.
- C. Use AWS Database Migration Service (AWS DMS) to migrate the database to Amazon Aurora. Turn on Aurora Auto Scaling.
- D. Migrate the database to Amazon Redshift by using the mysqldump utility. Turn on Auto Scaling for the Amazon Redshift cluster.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To migrate a MySQL database to AWS with compatibility and scalability, Amazon Aurora is a suitable option. Aurora is compatible with MySQL and can scale automatically with Aurora Auto Scaling. AWS Database Migration Service (AWS DMS) can be used to migrate the database from on-premises to Aurora with minimal downtime.

NEW QUESTION # 212

You're running an application on-premises due to its dependency on non-x86 hardware and want to use AWS for data backup. Your backup application is only able to write to POSIX-compatible block-based storage. You have 140TB of data and would like to mount it as a single folder on your file server. Users must be able to access portions of this data while the backups are taking place.

What backup solution would be most appropriate for this use case?

- A. Configure your backup software to use S3 as the target for your data backups.
- B. Use Storage Gateway and configure it to use Gateway Cached volumes.
- C. Configure your backup software to use Glacier as the target for your data backups.
- D. Use Storage Gateway and configure it to use Gateway Stored volumes.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

Volume gateway provides an iSCSI target, which enables you to create volumes and mount them as iSCSI devices from your on-premises application servers. The volume gateway runs in either a cached or stored mode.

In the cached mode, your primary data is written to S3, while you retain some portion of it locally in a cache for frequently accessed data.

In the stored mode, your primary data is stored locally and your entire dataset is available for low-latency access while asynchronously backed up to AWS.

In either mode, you can take point-in-time snapshots of your volumes and store them in Amazon S3, enabling you to make space-efficient versioned copies of your volumes for data protection and various data reuse needs.

NEW QUESTION # 213

Auto Scaling requests are signed with a _____ signature calculated from the request and the user private key.

- A. AES-256
- B. X.509
- C. SSL
- D. HMAC-SHA1

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 214

A company has an AWS Direct Connect connection from its on-premises location to an AWS account. The AWS account has 30 different VPCs in the same AWS Region. The VPCs use private virtual interfaces (VIFs). Each VPC has a CIDR block that does not overlap with other networks under the company's control. The company wants to centrally manage the networking architecture while still allowing each VPC to communicate with all other VPCs and on-premises networks. Which solution will meet these requirements with the LEAST amount of operational overhead?

- A. Create a transit VPC. Connect the Direct Connect connection to the transit VPC. Create a peering connection between all other VPCs in the Region. Update the route tables.
- B. Create a Direct Connect gateway. Recreate the private VIFs to use the new gateway. Associate each VPC by creating new virtual private gateways.
- C. Create AWS Site-to-Site VPN connections from on-premises to each VPC. Ensure that both VPN tunnels are UP for each connection. Turn on the route propagation feature.
- D. Create a transit gateway and associate the Direct Connect connection with a new transit VIF. Turn on the transit gateway's route propagation feature.

Answer: D

Explanation:

This solution meets the following requirements:

It is operationally efficient, as it only requires one transit gateway and one transit VIF to connect the Direct Connect connection to all the VPCs in the same AWS Region. The transit gateway acts as a regional network hub that simplifies the network management and reduces the number of VIFs and gateways needed.

It is scalable, as it can support up to 5000 attachments per transit gateway, which can include VPCs, VPNs, Direct Connect gateways, and peering connections. The transit gateway can also be connected to other transit gateways in different Regions or accounts using peering connections, enabling cross-Region and cross-account connectivity.

It is flexible, as it allows each VPC to communicate with all other VPCs and on-premises networks using dynamic routing protocols such as Border Gateway Protocol (BGP). The transit gateway's route propagation feature automatically propagates the routes from the attached VPCs and VPNs to the transit gateway route table, eliminating the need to manually update the route tables.

NEW QUESTION # 215

A company develops web applications. As part of its development process, the company constantly launches and deletes Application Load Balancers (ALBs) in multiple AWS Regions.

The company wants to create an allow list on its firewall device. The allow list will contain the IP addresses of all the load balancers. A solutions architect needs a one-line, highly available solution that will accomplish that goal and will help reduce the number of IP addresses that the firewall needs to allow.

Which solution will meet these requirements with the LEAST amount of operational overhead?

- A. Set up an Amazon EC2 Instance. Assign an Elastic IP address to the EC2 instance. Configure the EC2 instance as a proxy to forward traffic to all the ALBs.
- B. Launch AWS Global Accelerator. Create endpoints for each of the Regions that are in use. Register all the ALBs in the Regions to the corresponding endpoints.
- C. Set up a Network Load Balancer (NLB) with Elastic IP addresses. Register the private IP addresses of all the ALBs as targets for the NLB

- D. Create an AWS Lambda function to keep track of the IP addresses for all the ALBs in different Regions. Keep refreshing this list.

Answer: B
