- D. Asynchronous message processing.

Answer: A,D

NEW QUESTION # 73

A Mule application is running on a customer-hosted Mule runtime in an organization's network. The Mule application acts as a producer of asynchronous Mule events. Each Mule event must be broadcast to all interested external consumers outside the Mule application. The Mule events should be published in a way that is guaranteed in normal situations and also minimizes duplicate delivery in less-frequent failure scenarios.
The organizational firewall is configured to only allow outbound traffic on ports 80 and 443. Some external event consumers are within the organizational network, while others are located outside the firewall.
Which Anypoint Platform service facilitates publishing these Mule events to all external consumers while addressing the desired reliability goals?

- A. Anypoint MQ
- B. Anypoint Exchange
- C. CloudHub VM queues
- D. CloudHub Shared Load Balancer

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 74

An organization has defined a common object model in Java to mediate the communication between different Mule applications in a consistent way. A Mule application is being built to use this common object model to process responses from a SOAP API and a REST API and then write the processed results to an order management system.
The developers want Anypoint Studio to utilize these common objects to assist in creating mappings for various transformation steps in the Mule application.
What is the most straightforward way to utilize these common objects to map between the inbound and outbound systems in the Mule application?

- A. Use Idempotent Message Validator components
- B. Use JAXB (XML) and Jackson (JSON) data bindings
- C. Use the Transform Message component
- D. Use the Java module

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 75
