NEW QUESTION # 129

A company implements Dynamics 365 Supply Chain Management for inventory operations.

When a server that runs the document routing service restarts, a user must manually sign in to start the Document Routing Agent.

The configuration delays outbound operations.

You need to configure the Document Routing Agent to automatically start when the server restarts.

Which technology should you use?

- A. Microsoft store application
- B. Windows application
- C. Azure service
- D. Windows service
- E. Desktop application

Answer: D

Explanation:

Run the Document Routing Agent as a Windows service.

The Document Routing Agent includes an option that lets you select the mode of execution. The process can run as either a desktop application or a Microsoft Windows service. When the application runs as a Windows service, it can be started automatically after a computer restart.

Note: Configure and start the Windows service

* In Windows, start Service Manager.

* In the list, select Microsoft Dynamics 365 Finance Document Routing Service.

* Right-click the name, and then select Properties.

* On the Log On tab, select the This account option, and then supply the AD DS credentials that are used to run the service.

* Select OK.

* Start the service.

The Document Routing Agent is now running as a Windows service.
