Which action allows traffic from Core-2 to BL-1002 to have the same connectivity as the traffic from Core-1 to BL-1001?

- A. Add a second OSPF interface profile to the logical interface profile.
- B. Add a second path to the logical interface profile of the existing L3Out.
- C. Add a second interface to the external domain to the existing L3Out.
- D. Add a second subnet to the external EPG to the existing L3Out.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 290

The company's Cisco ACI fabric hosts multiple customer tenants. To meet a service level agreement, the company is constantly monitoring the Cisco ACI environment. Syslog is one of the methods used for monitoring. Only events related to leaf and spine environmental information without specific customer data should be logged. To which ACI object must the configuration be applied to meet these requirements?

- A. infra tenant
- B. switch profile
- C. access policy
- D. fabric policy

Answer: D

Explanation:

To ensure that only events related to leaf and spine environmental information are logged without including specific customer data, the configuration should be applied to the fabric policy. The fabric policy in Cisco ACI is used to define global settings that apply to the entire fabric, such as syslog settings, which can be configured to filter and forward only the desired types of system messages.
