Juniper Security, Associate (JNCIA-SEC) Sample Questions (Q78-Q83):

NEW QUESTION # 78

What is transit traffic in the Junos OS?

- A. It is traffic that requires special handling by the Routing Engine.
- B. It is traffic that is processed solely through the forwarding plane.
- C. It is traffic that is rate-limited to prevent denial-of-service attacks.
- D. It is traffic that is processed by the control plane.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Junos OS, traffic is classified into three main categories:

- * Transit traffic:
 - * Defined as traffic that enters one interface and exits another interface.
 - * It is handled entirely in the forwarding plane (Packet Forwarding Engine).
 - * Example: User data packets moving between trust and untrust zones.
 - * Correct #Option A.
- * Exception traffic:
 - * Traffic requiring processing by the Routing Engine (control plane), such as routing updates or management traffic.
 - * Matches Option C/D, but that is not transit traffic.
- * Control traffic:
 - * Management or routing-related, handled by the control plane.
 - * Rate-limiting (Option B):
 - * This applies specifically to exception traffic to protect the Routing Engine, not to transit traffic.

Correct Statement: Transit traffic is traffic that is processed solely through the forwarding plane.

NEW QUESTION # 79

Which two statements about the host-inbound-traffic parameter in a zone configuration are correct? (Choose two.)

- A. The host-inbound-traffic parameter is explicitly configured in a security zone.
- B. The host-inbound-traffic parameter is implicitly configured in the management zone.
- C. Deleting the host-inbound-traffic parameter blocks console access to the firewall.
- D. Deleting the host-inbound-traffic parameter blocks SSH access to the firewall.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Removing or not configuring the host-inbound-traffic parameter in a security zone will block management traffic (such as SSH, HTTPS, or ping) destined for the SRX firewall itself from interfaces in that zone.

The host-inbound-traffic parameter must be explicitly configured in each security zone to specify which protocols and services are allowed to reach the device's control plane.

NEW QUESTION # 80

What is the default value of the dead peer detection (DPD) interval for an IPsec VPN tunnel?

- A. 5 seconds
- B. 10 seconds
- C. 20 seconds
- D. 40 seconds

Answer: A

Explanation:

The default value of the dead peer detection (DPD) interval for an IPsec VPN tunnel is 5 seconds.

DPD is a mechanism that enables the IPsec device to detect if the peer is still reachable or if the IPsec VPN tunnel is still active. The DPD interval determines how often the IPsec device sends DPD packets to the peer to check the status of the VPN tunnel. A value of 5 seconds is a common default, but the specific value can vary depending on the IPsec device and its configuration.

NEW QUESTION # 81

Which statement is correct about source NAT?

- A. It translates private IP addresses to public IP addresses.
- B. It performs bidirectional IP address translation.
- C. It performs translation on ingress traffic only.
- D. It translates MAC addresses to private IP addresses.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Source NAT modifies the source IP address of outbound traffic, translating private internal addresses into public addresses for external network communication.

NEW QUESTION # 82

You are troubleshooting traffic traversing the SRX Series Firewall and require detailed information showing how the flow module is handling the traffic.

How would you accomplish this task?

- A. Review the forwarding table.
- B. Enable flow trace options.
- C. Review the flow session table.
- D. Enable firewall filters.

Answer: B

Explanation:

To obtain detailed, step-by-step information on how the SRX flow module is processing traffic, you enable flow trace options. This feature captures flow-level diagnostics, showing session creation, NAT, policy matches, and packet disposition, making it ideal for deep troubleshooting.
