Microsoft GitHub Foundations Sample Questions (Q27-Q32):

NEW QUESTION # 27

From the list of projects for an organization, how can a user identify a GitHub Projects template?

- A. Check the "show template" checkbox.
- B. View the contents in the .github/projects folder.
- C. Select the Templates tab.
- D. Use the "is" filter in the search text box.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In GitHub, when viewing the list of projects for an organization, a user can identify a GitHub Projects template by selecting the Templates tab. This tab specifically lists available templates that can be used to create new projects based on predefined structures and workflows.

NEW QUESTION # 28

As a user, which of the following default labels is used to indicate that a maintainer needs assistance on an issue or pull request?

- A. Question
- B. Help wanted
- C. Enhancement
- D. Documentation

Answer: B

Explanation:

In GitHub, labels are used to categorize issues and pull requests, and certain default labels are provided to help manage tasks:

* Help Wanted Label:

* Option C is correct. The "Help wanted" label is used to indicate that the maintainer of the repository needs assistance on a particular issue or pull request. This label helps in attracting contributors who might be interested in helping with specific tasks.

* Other Options:

* Option A ("Enhancement") is incorrect because it indicates a request for a new feature or improvement rather than a call for help.

* Option B ("Question") is incorrect because it is used to flag issues or pull requests that seek clarification or additional information, not necessarily requiring assistance.

* Option D ("Documentation") is incorrect because it labels issues or PRs related to documentation, not for seeking help.

NEW QUESTION # 29

What is the difference between Git and GitHub?

- A. Git is a cloud-based hosting service, while GitHub is a distributed version control system.
- B. Git is a command-line tool for tracking file changes, while GitHub is a platform for collaborating on Git repositories.
- C. Git is a centralized version control system, while GitHub is a cloud-based collaboration platform.
- D. Git and GitHub are different names for the same tool that is used for version control and collaboration.

Answer: B

Explanation:

About GitHub and Git

About GitHub

GitHub is a cloud-based platform where you can store, share, and work together with others to write code.

Storing your code in a "repository" on GitHub allows you to:

Showcase or share your work.

Track and manage changes to your code over time.

Let others review your code, and make suggestions to improve it.

Collaborate on a shared project, without worrying that your changes will impact the work of your collaborators before you're ready to integrate them.

Collaborative working, one of GitHub's fundamental features, is made possible by the open-source software, Git, upon which GitHub is built.

About Git

Git is a version control system that intelligently tracks changes in files. Git is particularly useful when you and a group of people are all making changes to the same files at the same time.

NEW QUESTION # 30

When creating a repository from a template, what will the new repository contain?

- A. pull requests
- B. Default branch
- C. commit history
- D. contributors

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 31

How can a user resume an existing Codespace that is bound to a repository? (Choose two.)

- A. Browse to the repository in GitHub.com, press the comma "," key and select Resume this codespace.
- B. Browse to the repository in GitHub.com and press the period "." key.
- C. Open <https://github.com/codespaces> in the browser, select the repository, and then select the existing Codespace.
- D. Use the git CLI with the codespace parameter (e.g., "git codespace code -web").

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Opening an existing codespace

You can reopen a codespace that you have closed or stopped and return to your work.

You can reopen any of your active or stopped codespaces on GitHub, in Visual Studio Code, or by using GitHub CLI.

[C] Opening an existing codespace from the "Your codespaces" page

1. In the top-left corner of GitHub, select , then click Codespaces to take you to the "Your codespaces" page at github.com/codespaces.

2. To open a codespace in your default editor, click the name of the codespace. You can set your default editor for Codespaces in your personal settings page.

[D, not A] Resuming a codespace from a repository page

You can quickly resume a codespace when you're viewing a repository on GitHub.

With the Code tab of your repository displayed on GitHub, press , (the comma key).

The "Resume codespace" page is displayed. This allows you to resume your most recently used codespace for the currently selected branch of the repository or, if you were viewing a pull request, for the topic branch of the pull request.

Incorrect:

[Not B] If you have installed GitHub CLI, you can use it to work with GitHub Codespaces.

In a terminal, enter one of the following GitHub CLI commands.

To open a codespace in VS Code, enter:

gh codespace code

Etc.
