- B. It provides a versatile approach to business planning.
- C. It provides an organizing framework for the change activity in a project.

正解: D

解説:

Developing a TOGAF business scenario provides several benefits, particularly in aiding vendors to deliver appropriate solutions.

Here's a detailed explanation:

TOGAF Business Scenarios:

Business scenarios are used to capture and describe business requirements, helping to identify and understand business needs and challenges.

Role in Vendor Engagement:

Clarity of Requirements: Business scenarios provide clear and detailed descriptions of the business context, needs, and requirements.

This helps vendors understand what solutions are necessary to address specific business challenges.

Alignment of Solutions: By providing a comprehensive view of the business environment and requirements, business scenarios ensure that the solutions proposed by vendors are aligned with the actual business needs and strategic goals.

TOGAF ADM Reference:

Phase A: Architecture Vision: In this phase, business scenarios are developed to capture stakeholder concerns and requirements, providing a basis for the architecture vision.

Benefits:

Effective Solution Design: Vendors can design solutions that are tailored to the specific needs of the business, reducing the risk of misalignment and ensuring better outcomes.

Improved Collaboration: Business scenarios facilitate better collaboration between the enterprise and vendors by providing a common understanding of the requirements and expected outcomes.

In summary, developing a TOGAF business scenario aids vendors in delivering appropriate solutions by providing clear and detailed descriptions of business requirements, ensuring alignment with business needs and strategic goals.
