GInI Certified Innovation Professional (CInP) Sample Questions (Q167-Q172):

NEW QUESTION # 167

It has been demonstrated in numerous studies that the collective wisdom of a large group can often produce noticeably better insights and ideas than the more limited perspective of a narrow group, especially when considering that those on the outside assume the _____ perspective of a situation, while those on the inside assume the _____ perspective of the situation - these two perspectives producing very different outcomes.

- A. public's / managers'
- B. customers' / CEOs'
- C. executives' / workers'
- D. market's / business'

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. public's / managers' . Innovation management principles often emphasize the value of diverse perspectives and collective intelligence when generating ideas and solving complex problems.

Studies on group wisdom demonstrate that large and diverse groups frequently produce stronger insights because they include viewpoints from individuals who are outside the internal organizational mindset .

People outside the organization typically view a situation from the public's perspective , which reflects the needs, expectations, and experiences of customers, users, and society. This viewpoint is often less constrained by internal assumptions, organizational habits, or operational limitations. As a result, it can reveal opportunities, unmet needs, and innovative possibilities that internal teams may overlook. # On the other hand, individuals inside the organization often adopt a managers' perspective , which is influenced by internal priorities such as processes, budgets, policies, and operational constraints. While this perspective is important for implementation and control, it can sometimes limit creativity and broader opportunity recognition.

GInI innovation topics highlight the importance of open innovation, participatory innovation, and external engagement to bring in broader perspectives. Combining external viewpoints with internal expertise helps organizations generate more powerful ideas and achieve stronger innovation outcomes

NEW QUESTION # 168

Organizations should be aware that in the Evaluation process of Stage 3 of the GInI InMS, the confidence level around certain metrics can be low given how far out in time they are from the present, and thus a certain amount of subjectivity and judgment will be inherent in the process.

Select one correct answer from the list:

- A. Guessing
- B. A certain amount of optimistic speculation
- C. A certain amount of subjectivity and judgment
- D. Mostly unknowns

Answer: C

Explanation:

GInI'sCInP Handbooknotes that in InMS Stage 3, evaluating ideas involves metrics (e.g., ROI, market size) projected into the future, where data may be incomplete. This introduces "a certain amount of subjectivity and judgment"-informed estimates by experts-balancing hard data with experience. "Guessing" (A) implies randomness, against GInI's rigor. "Mostly unknowns" (B) overstates uncertainty. "Optimistic speculation" (D) suggests bias, not judgment. Option C aligns with GInI's acknowledgment of human interpretation in early-stage decisions, matching the original answer, reflecting a pragmatic blend of science and art in GInI's evaluation-a realistic approach to innovation's ambiguity.

NEW QUESTION # 169

Many brainstorming sessions start with quiet time for individual brainwriting.

Select one correct answer from the list:

- A. Brainwriting
- B. Reflection
- C. Problem review
- D. Sketching

Answer: A

Explanation:

GInI'sCInP Handbookdescribes brainwriting as a common brainstorming technique where participants begin with quiet, individual idea generation-writing down thoughts before group discussion. This method, often called "silent brainstorming," ensures diverse input, reduces groupthink, and builds a foundation for collective ideation. The question's phrasing-"quiet time for individual brainwriting"-explicitly points to this practice.

Option A, "problem review," is preparatory, not generative. Option C, "sketching," might occur but isn't the standard term. Option D, "reflection," is introspective, not idea-producing. Option B aligns with GInI's methodology, where brainwriting kickstarts creativity systematically. The original answer (B) is correct, supported by GInI's emphasis on structured, inclusive ideation techniques that maximize participation and output.
