- A. TRUE
- B. FALSE

Explanation:

The Huawei Service Management Center (SMC) is the centralized management hub for the entire video conferencing solution. It is responsible for the unified management of all Network Elements (NEs), including MCUs, SwitchCenters (SC), and Recording & Streaming Engines (RSE). Its core functions include user and endpoint management, conference scheduling, resource allocation (resource pooling), and visualized O & M (Operations and Maintenance). By centralizing these tasks, the SMC ensures that large-scale enterprise networks can be controlled from a single interface.
