IIBA Entry Certificate in Business Analysis (ECBA) Sample Questions (Q153-Q158):

NEW QUESTION # 153

Requirements allocation is an element of which task?

- A. Verify requirements
- B. Specify and model requirements
- C. Define requirements architecture
- D. Define design options

Answer: C

Explanation:

Requirements allocation is an element of the task "Define requirements architecture". This process involves organizing and structuring the requirements to effectively support the development and management of the solution. By defining the requirements architecture, business analysts can determine how best to allocate requirements across various solution components and releases, ensuring that each requirement is addressed in a manner that aligns with the overall solution design and strategy. This systematic approach to handling requirements helps in maximizing value delivery and achieving the project objectives efficiently.

NEW QUESTION # 154

What type of knowledge equips a business analyst (BA) with understanding market forces, customer segments, services, products, and regulations?

- A. Methodological
- B. Solution
- C. Industry
- D. Organizational

Answer: C

Explanation:

Industry knowledge equips a business analyst with the understanding of market forces, customer segments, services, products, and regulations. This type of knowledge is crucial for BAs as it helps them to comprehend the external factors that influence the organization and its market position. It includes insights into the competitive landscape, regulatory environment, market trends, customer demographics, and product lifecycle, which are all essential for effective business analysis.

NEW QUESTION # 155

Which core concept defines a specific way of satisfying one or more needs in a context?

- A. Solution
- B. Priority
- C. Change
- D. Value

Answer: A

Explanation:

The core concept that defines a specific way of satisfying one or more needs in a context is 'Solution'.

According to the Business Analysis Core Concept Model (BACCM), a solution satisfies a need by resolving a problem faced by stakeholders or enabling stakeholders to take advantage of an opportunity. It is a specific response to a need within a given context, and it can vary significantly from one organization to another as different organizations or situations may require different solutions.

References: This explanation is consistent with the definitions provided in the Business Analysis Core Concept Model (BACCM) as outlined by the International Institute of Business Analysis (IIBA) and the Business Analysis Body of Knowledge (BABOK) guide1234.

NEW QUESTION # 156

What tool is used by a business analyst (BA) for quality control when verifying requirements and designs?

- A. Estimation
- B. Checklists
- C. Interviews
- D. Benchmarking

Answer: B

Explanation:

Checklists are a tool used by business analysts for quality control when verifying requirements and designs.

They help ensure that all necessary steps are followed, and all important aspects are considered. Checklists can capture any identified issues and are used to confirm that nothing crucial is missed during the verification process. This tool is particularly useful for specifying and modeling requirements, as it helps maintain the quality and completeness of the requirements documentation.

References: The use of checklists for quality control in business analysis is discussed in the context of verification activities, which are essential throughout the project lifecycle to maintain the validity of requirements and designs¹.

NEW QUESTION # 157

Which of the following approaches is used to determine how business analysis data will be packaged and communicated to stakeholders?

- A. Business Analysis Approach
- B. Stakeholder Engagement Approach
- C. Governance Approach
- D. Information Management Approach

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Information Management Approach is used to determine how business analysis information will be structured, stored, and maintained. It outlines the processes for managing the flow of information between stakeholders and ensures that the information is communicated in a clear, concise, and accessible manner. This approach is essential for ensuring that stakeholders have the right information at the right time to make informed decisions.
