Is it allowed to have other meetings besides the Scrum events?

- A. YES
- B. NO

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 32

In the Sprint Review, only the Developers, the Scrum Master and the Product Owner are allowed.

- A. TRUE
- B. FALSE

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 33

True or False: Sprint Reviews are an opportunity to collect stakeholder feedback.

- A. True
- B. False

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

The Sprint Review is an event that occurs at the end of each Sprint, where the Scrum Team and the stakeholders inspect the Increment and adapt the Product Backlog if needed. The Sprint Review is an opportunity for the Product Owner to validate that the Increment meets their expectations and delivers value to the customers and users. The Sprint Review is also an opportunity for the Developers to demonstrate their work and receive feedback from the Product Owner and the stakeholders.

Stakeholders are people external to the Scrum Team who have a stake or interest in the product, such as customers, users, sponsors, managers, or other teams. Stakeholders provide valuable input, feedback, and insights to the Scrum Team regarding the product vision, goals, value proposition, requirements, features, functions, quality, usability, or market conditions.

Collecting stakeholder feedback is one of the main purposes of the Sprint Review. Stakeholder feedback can help the Scrum Team to:

Assess the value and quality of the product Increment and identify any gaps or issues that need to be addressed.
Understand the needs and expectations of the customers and users and discover new opportunities or ideas for improvement or innovation.
Align and collaborate with the stakeholders on the product direction and priorities and ensure transparency and trust.
Adapt the Product Backlog based on the feedback and data and plan for the next Sprint.

NEW QUESTION # 34

Which approach is best for Scrum Teams in order to produce valuable Increments?
(choose the best answer)

- A. Each Scrum Team works on an independent set of components.
- B. Each Scrum Member works only as an independent layer of the system.
- C. Each Scrum Team is accountable for developing functionality from beginning to end.
- D. Each Developer works on the component where they feel that they can contribute.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

The best approach for Scrum Teams to produce valuable Increments is to be accountable for developing functionality from beginning to end, as this enables them to deliver potentially releasable products that meet the definition of "Done". The Scrum Guide states that "The Developers are the people in the Scrum Team that are committed to creating any aspect of a usable Increment each Sprint."¹ This means that the Developers are not limited by the boundaries of components, layers, or technologies, but rather they collaborate and coordinate to deliver a complete and integrated product that satisfies the Sprint Goal and the Product Owner's expectations.
