NEW QUESTION # 60

Which of the following considerations are important when creating custom fields? (Select 2 correct answers)

- A. The data type of a field can be dynamically changed, depending on data type availability
- B. Published field changes can be reverted via Un-publish to free up memory
- C. When a field has been created and published, that field type has been consumed from the number of available fields on the class
- D. There's a limit to the number of fields, by data type, that can be added to a class

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

SAP Ariba allocates a finite number of field "slots" per data type for each class. When a custom field is created and published, it consumes one of these slots. Therefore, there are limits to how many fields of each type you can create per class. The data type cannot be changed after creation, and unpublishing does not reclaim the allocated slot; you must delete the field to free resources. Planning field usage carefully avoids hitting these system limits.
