- B. Create a page and assign it to the launchpad space.
- C. Assign a different business role that provides access.

Answer: D

Explanation:
In theSupplier Consignment (2LG)process, consignment stock refers to materials provided by a supplier that are stored on the customer's premises but remain the property of the supplier until consumed or transferred.
Below is an explanation of the correct answer:
* A supplier provides you with material that is stored on your premises but is still the property of the supplier (C):In a consignment arrangement, the supplier retains ownership of the material until it is withdrawn from consignment stock for use or consumption. This allows the customer to manage inventory without immediate financial liability.

This describes a scenario where the supplier manages the customer's material, which is unrelated to consignment.
* A supplier provides you with material with agreed periods that is stored in its premises (B):This describes a storage agreement at the supplier's location, not a consignment arrangement.
* A supplier provides you with material with agreed periods and you have the liability of the consignment stock (D):This contradicts the consignment principle, as the supplier retains liability until the material is consumed.
